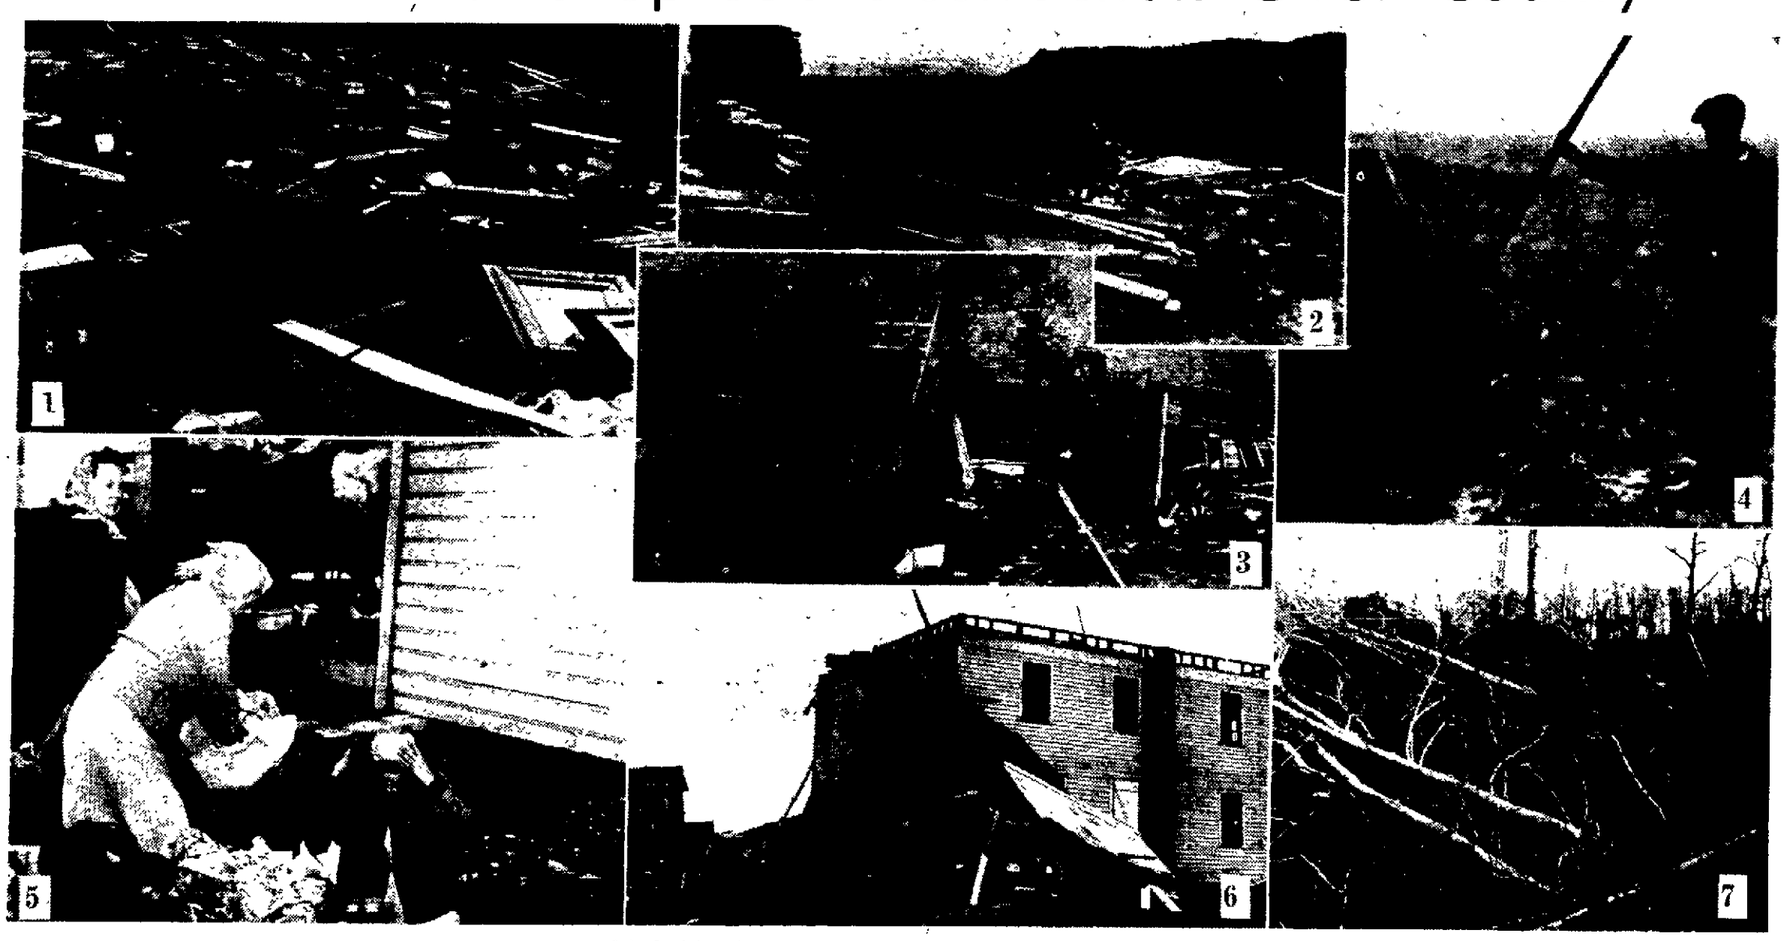
TORNADO LASHES OHIO, LEAVES TRAIL OF RUIN NORTH OF CITY

How Tornado Spread Destruction Over County



Pictures taken north of Mansfield in the areas worst hit by last night's tornado are shown above. No. 1 shows a view of the attic of a double frame dwelling unroofed when the tornado struck the Springmill road area. The house was occupied by the Otis Seidel and Victor Reinhart families. No. 2 shows a barn leveled at the Ohio State reformatory farm. No 3 is a view of buildings wrecked at the rear of the Seidel-Reinhart home. In No. 4 an inmate of the reformatory is looking at timbers driven into the ground after they were blown from the destroyed barn. No. 5 shows neighbor women aiding the C. T. Richie family, Olivesburg road, in removing canned foods from their basement. The Richie home was twisted and lifted from the foundation. No. 6 shows the Seidel-Reinhart home after the twister hit. Trees uprooted on the Milo Hieber farm are shown in No. 7.

Scores of Homes In County Destroyed Or Damaged, Trees Uprooted; Gale Does Greatest Damage In and Near Cleveland, Akron.

BULLETIN

NEW LONDON—A. C. Cacurse, 62, of five miles north of here, was killed and a farm hand, Harry Porter, is in New London hospital with injuries sustained when a tornado swept north of here last night leveling nearby Hartland Center. A community hall, store, three schools and a church were demolished and 15 houses damaged. Damage was estimated in thousands of dollars.

Damage mounting into many thousands of dollars was left by a tornado which smashed homes, barns and leveled trees and utility poles as it cut a 300-foot swath in northern Richland county while twisting its way over a 150-mile northern Ohio area last night. Fortunately, no injuries or deaths were reported in this area.

The twister, worst to hit Ohio since the devastating Lorain tornado in 1924, destroyed at least a half dozen homes in the Mansfield area, damaged scores of others, leveled more than a dozen barns and damaged hundreds of other buildings. It missed Mansfield by a bare three miles.

Wartime censorship regulations prevent the disclosure of the exact time the tornado hit. It also forbids mention of direction or velocity of wind.

Occupants of three of the dwellings experienced a brush with serious injury or death when the tornado roared over their homes, leaving the houses virtually destroyed.

Hardest hit by the tornado—weather authorities said there actually were four tornadoes—was the Cleveland-Medina-Akron area.

There, two persons were killed, nearly 200 others injured, and scores of houses and other buildings destroyed or damaged.

In Richland county, the storm struck with fury in an area just three to three and a half miles north and east of the city. It took barely a minute to wreak havoc in the area hit.

It unroofed a double frame house occupied by the Otis Seidel and Victor Reinhart families on State Route 39, three miles northwest of Mansfield.

It twisted the home of C. T. Richie, Olivesburg road, and moved it 12 feet off its foundation. Mr and Mrs. Richie and their eight-year-old daughter, Jane Ann, were in the house at the time but were not injured.

A big bank barn was destroyed at the Ohio State reformatory. More than 500 trees were uprooted in the O. S. R. orchards. Damage was estimated at $5,000 by Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke.

Livestock was buried under the timbers of a big barn at the Earl Hettrick farm on Rock road, in the Walker lake area. The terrific wind leveled the barn and damaged the Hettrick residence.

An automobile was upset and damaged as it was tossed against a big boulder on the B. F. Terman farm, Springmill-Lexington road. A brooder house was destroyed and siding was torn off the residence.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—(AP)—American troops stormed three fiercely defended hills straddling the road to Mateur and Bizerte and the British First army battled for a commanding height at Medjerda village 21 miles northwest of Tunis, it was announced at Allied headquarters today.

(By Associated Press)

Allied troops cracking deep into the northern and southern barriers of the Tunis-Bizerte zone made "steady progress," Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today as the battle of Tunisia neared the hour of decision.

The communique indicated the Germans, fighting desperately to prevent being split into two pockets, were putting up stiffer resistance on the central front guarding the open plain before Tunis.

"Fighting in the Medjez-El-Bab sector has been hard, attack being followed by counter-attack, throughout the day," the Allied war bulletin said.

Medjez-El-Bab lies 34 miles southwest of Tunis.

In the north, the communique said, troops of Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton's American Second army corps again make "good progress" in the hills within 28 miles of the Bizerte naval base. French troops in the same general area were reported within 20 miles of Bizerte, near the western shores of Lake Achkel.

In the south, the French were credited with rolling up gains of more than 15 miles in the last three days in the region of Pont Du Fahs, southwestern gateway to Tunis.

World developments at a glance:

AIR WAR—Allied heavy bombers again hit Bari airdrome on Italy's Adriatic coast; RAF home-based raiders give Germany overnight respite.

RUSSIA—Soviet guns blast Nazi defenses "west of Rostov," may be hammering long-held German base at Taganrog.

BOND DRIVE NOW $655,905 SHORT

Three Days To Go, Leaders of Campaign Gird For the 'Last 100 Yards.'

Just three days away from the Saturday night deadline, the Richland county second War Loan drive today was $655,905 away from its goal of $6,649,000. Yesterday's subscriptions of $208,622 brought the total to $5,993,095.

Like the last 100 yards in a mile race the last days of the drive will be the toughest going, H. G. Brunner and Paul M. Elliot, co-chairmen of the drive, said today.

Of the remainnig $655,905 more than half or $382,400 represents the amount the public still need to buy. Brunner said today that the sale of E bonds is "going fine" but again stated that more large subscriptions are necessary to make the drive a success.

With $1,950,500 in bonds already purchased the banks are now $273,500 short of their $2,224,000 goal. They expect to reach this quota within the next two days after bidding is opened again.

Nearly 5,580 subscribers have purchased $4,042,595 in bonds toward the $4,425,000 quota for the public.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Allied fliers, including Canadians as well as Americans, raided Japanese positions on Kiska island in the western Aleutians 13 times Monday, and destroyed a number of buildings, the navy reported today.

This was the first time that Canadians had been reported in action in the Aleutians campaign since last September.

BIDS OUT FOR 'E' CEREMONY

800 Invited To See Mansfield Plant Receive Army-Navy Production Award.

Invitations went out today for the Army-Navy "E" flag ceremonies to be held May 7 at the Hughes-Keenan company, first Mansfield manufacturing concern to receive the award.

Company officials said 800 invitations had been mailed to employes and their families, company distributors, Mansfield industrial representatives and officials of the army and navy.

The production award will be made by Army and Navy officers at outdoor ceremonies during which all of the company employes will be presented with "E" buttons, and the company with the Army-Navy "E" pennant.

The company engaged exclusively in the production of war materials, manufactures the "Roustabout" crane, an army and navy utility vehicle.

The excellence award was based on quantity and quality of material produced with plant facilities. Government officials pointed out that only two per cent of the 85,000 plants in the country eligible to receive the award have been nominated for the honor by army and navy selection boards.

Strike, Bayonet Lines Loom In Coal Dispute

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The number of miners engaged in a "silent strike" in the nation's vital bituminous coal industry soared to more than 47,000 today as it appeared that a general walkout of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers was actually under way.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The nation's soft coal industry which feeds the fires of war steel production, power generation and transportation moved swiftly toward a wage dispute climax today with the threat of a full scale strike and talk of subsequent mine operation behind bayonet lines.

Thousands of miners already had laid down their tools as a three-man War Labor Board panel took up the case in closed hearings, but as yet the widespread walkouts were not officially regarded as strikes.

But John L. Lewis said that his United Mine Workers would not work after midnight Friday unless their demands were met and the full WLB debated whether that constituted outright defiance calling for action—or whether it should be ignored, pending an actual shutdown.

The panel had received instructions from the board to begin hearings and proceed until further orders before the UMW president announced in New York the miners would not work without a contract after Friday midnight when a 30-day temporary continuance expires.

Lewis raised the strike threat after the UMW policy committee demanded withdrawal of the dispute from the WLB, charging the board with "malignant prejudice."

He said that as matters now stand there will be no contract April 30 and "the mine workers will not trespass on mine property in the absence of a contract."

As his threat was seconded by spokesmen of Illinois' 15,000 progressive mine workers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and the sporadic walkouts continued to spread, speculation arose as to what the government will do if the strike develops.

Swift action was expected, with the decision up to President Roosevelt, and some sources said the government probably would move in with military protection for any miners who chose to work.

OHIO FOURTH IN DEFENSES

Stone Cites Danger, Urges Ohioans To Invest In Bomb Precautions.

(Editor's Note: Herewith is the second in a series of three articles in which Ralph H. Stone, state defense director, points out the grim possibility that bombs may fall on Ohio this spring and summer, and warns of precautions that citizens must take. The last of the series will appear tomorrow.)

RALPH H. STONE
Director, Ohio Council of Defense
(Written for The Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Every city, town and village in industrially-important Ohio is a potential target area, and the public should invest heavily in civilian defense because it is good insurance.

I believe enemy air raids may come this spring and summer, and rural areas are not immune from attack.

Civilian defense may be compared to an insurance policy against accidents. Although we hope this nation will never be the target for bombs, through civilian defense we have a protection policy which automatically becomes effective when raiders strike.

In this connection, Ohio ranks fourth among the states in the number of trained civilian defense volunteers. The Ohio State Council of Defense had 566,768 persons enrolled as of March 1, of which 362,215 have been trained to cope with any emergency.

This is equivalent to 13 trained volunteers for every 1,000 persons. The latest analysis or enrollment does not include an additional 47,966 now in training and 45,323 other awaiting training.

Hear Ambulance Driver From Malaya, Recruiter Tell How Women Can Help.

"America is the only country at war in the world today where there is security and safety. Americans must put aside selfishness and learn to sacrifice and accept the responsibility that is theirs."

This was the message of Mrs James A. Bines as she spoke to more than 800 persons at the Red Cross nurse recruiting rally at John Simpson junior high school last night. Mrs. Bines, who was commanding officer of the Perak ambulance corps of the British army and the last white woman to leave Singapore before the entrance of the Japanese, said that the Americans underestimate the Japanese as military adversaries.

Burned-Out Elyria Plant Continues Operation.

ELYRIA (AP)—The Gilkinson Manufacturing Co., a small war plant, was operating under a tent today. A fire of undetermined origin destroyed the plant Saturday but officials of the concern said enough equipment was salvaged to permit resumption of partial production.

A new building will be constructed as soon as possible, officials added.

JAPS CHECKED

Admiral King Says Expansion of Foe In Pacific Halted.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, says the expansion of Japanese forces in the Pacific has been checked and he believes the submarine menace in the Atlantic should be under control within the next four to six months.

Speaking last night at a dinner meeting of the United States chamber of commerce, King said: "In December of 1941 we were apprehensive—both the military and the civilian population — whether the western hemisphere would be invaded. We don't worry about that now. The expansion of the Japanese forces has been checked."

There was evidence, Admiral King said, "that the Japanese are badly pinched for ships."

Shangri-La Diary

'We're Going To Bomb Tokyo!'

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
(INS Staff Correspondent)

AT SEA WITH SHANGRI-LA TASK FORCE—At breakfast today we were cheered by a piece of great good news which all agreed, indicated that our mission will no doubt be a very important one.

There was no definite information. But once again, there was an outburst of conjecture and a soaring revival of interest. This time there were more guesses that we are going to send out a bombing attack on Tokyo or some other spot on the Japanese mainland.

Later in the day, the flat voice of our speaker system announced that there was to be firing practice against towed targets. I was anxious to see the operations because I believed they might approximate actual air raid conditions.

Soon the small speck of a plane appeared over the horizon, and as it came closer, I could see the cigar-like white shape of a sleeve target moving at the end of a tow-line far behind it.

I could hear the guns clicking into "load" position, and hear one petty officer saying in a clear, cool voice, "all right, sailors, let's go."

How the big news came to the sailors and airmen of the U. S. navy early last April is told in dramatic detail today in this installment of "Shangri-La Diary" by Richard Tregaskis, ace war correspondent who was with the naval task force which accompanied the aircraft carrier Hornet on its historic mission against Japan.

Then, as the plane drew closer, I could see the gun barrels following it, hear the voices of the gunnery chiefs saying "Mark, Mark."

The firing began, with a devastating clatter. I saw a shower

King Corn In the Victory Garden.

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Ass'n.

UNLESS THE Victory garden is very small King Corn will demand a place in it and every home gardener is ready to be its willing subject for the sake of the succulent kernels at "sweet corn time."

Corn, no matter how great your enthusiasm for it, should not be planted until all danger of frost is past. Corn is a warm weather vegetable and cannot tolerate even mild freezing weather.

Sweet corn, because of the room it takes, is hardly appropriate or practical in the very small Victory vegetable garden but when space permits it should be included in the planting list, for there is no more appetizing and satisfying vegetable than corn plunged fresh from the garden into the boiling pot. Both the quality and flavor deteriorate quickly after the ears are pulled from the plant.

Even in the small Victory garden one can have corn nearly all summer if small, successive plantings of it are made at 10 day intervals, as shown in the accompanying Garden Graph.

Where sweet corn is concerned, it will pay to buy the very best of seed. Only a comparatively small quantity of seed is required for the average Victory garden and poor quality seeds will yield only disappointment in the plants, as illustrated. The best seed is actually the cheapest in the end because of the increased yields plus improved quality of the corn itself. Only the hybrid varieties of corn should be grown in the small garden because of the high yield from each plant.

JURY TROUBLE

BUCYRUS—Combined wartime employment and illness is causing difficulty in setting up a jury panel in common pleas court, Judge C. U. Ahl indicated today. Of the first panel of 30 drawn from the jury wheel, challenges in a jury case last week left an insufficient number to continue with the hearing and 30 additional names were added. Of the last 30 more than half have been given excuses because of war plant employment or illness, Judge Ahl said.

Asks Return of Original Wright Flying Machine

WILMINGTON, N. C. (INS)—Governor J. Melville Broughton, of North Carolina, has launched a campaign to have the original flying machine used by Orville Wright and his brother, the late Wilbur Wright returned to the scene of their first flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C.

The plane is now on display in the Royal Museum in London, England, where it has been since a private feud developed between persons interested in the Wright brothers and the Smithsonian Institution. The Smithsonian for years had claimed an early airplane built by Professor Samuel Langley was capable of flight.

However the Smithsonian finally recognized the Wright Brothers as the makers of the first successful airplane.

Now, North Carolina wants its native sons properly honored and acclaimed. Gov. Broughton, in cooperation with influential publishers and civic organizations, has launched the movement to have the original Wright Brothers plane returned to Kitty Hawks, and suggested that the government erect a suitable building to house the historic invention.

The original Indian name for Mount McKinley was Denali, meaning "Home of the Sun."

I'm a little bit confused about who is challenging whom, but I'm pretty certain there's a challenge in the air, and I wouldn't be surprised if it's snapped up.

"You put it in the paper," says Paul Walrick, the old duckpin pounder from way down East, "that Les Malaska and I are challenging Art Hilborn and Johnny Leppo to a special three-game bowling match, giving us the difference in our averages, for 10 bucks on the line."

"No, don't you do it," exclaims Malaska, "I don't want any part of that."

"Listen Lester," Paul protests, "we can't lose. What have you got to worry about?"

"That's just it." Les explains, "they wouldn't have a chance that way. They've got too far to go before they hit their average. They'd never hold still."

"Okay," says Paul, "put it in that we challenge them even."

"What?" gasps Les. "No! No! No! Count me out!"

"But, listen Lester . . ." And so it goes.

* * *

And of course Paul is wrong right there, because he shouldn't be saying "Listen Lester." He should be saying "Listen Sylvester." And this I know because I am an old city directory reader.

* * *

"Listen Lester." (This goes on far into the night.) "Listen Lester. I will put up the money and all you've got to do is bowl."

"I don't bowl on someone else's money," says Les. "Just count me out."

"I see how you feel about that," says Paul. "But we can't lose. Can't you see that?"

"I can't see any part of it, and I don't want any part of it," says Les in the manner of a man who has made up his mind.

Les and Paul recently took down third money in the handicap doubles tournament at Tiffin, and Walrick is feeling his muscle.

Also Paul has had a standing bet of a buck for the last four Moose league nights with Hilborn, that Art will not beat him by 100 pins, and to date Paul has collected four bucks. Monday night Art had him 85 pins in the fifth frame of the last game, and inquired: "Do you want to pay me now, Walrick?"

Whereupon Paul gets a four-bagger, and wins another buck So his muscle is feeling pretty good when all this conversation goes on.

* * *

"Listen Lester . . ." Walrick's voice trails off as Malaska goes out the door. "There goes that match," decides Walrick. "But you can put it in the paper that I challenge Hilborn the same way, difference in our averages." It seems the challenge is issued.

Brinkerhoff Wins Season Opener

While all other opening games in the grade school softball league were being postponed yesterday because of wet grounds Brinkerhoff and Carpenter insisted on going ahead with their first engagement, but the result hardly resembled a baseball game

Score: Brinkerhoff 26 Carpenter 16.

How the Carpenters ever got any of the Brinks out is not revealed. The box score shows every Brinkerhoff batter with a perfect batting record, with the team having 26 times at bat, 26 hits, and 26 runs. Must be some error. It just can't happen

Carpenter got 16 runs on 22 hits,

BUCK RALLY WINS

ATHENS—(AP)—Ohio State university's baseballers staged a belated rally to defeat Ohio university 5 to 4 here yesterday. Trailing by four runs, Ohio State tied the score in the seventh frame and counted the game-winning marker in the eighth. In another Ohio college baseball game yesterday, Kent State defeated Wooster 3 to 1 at Kent.

Athletics Take Long Ball Game

Beat Senators 2-1 In Sixteen Innings.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

BASEBALL is having plenty of woes—the dead ball, poor attendance and the constant drain of the draft—but if you will wipe away this wartime tarnish for a few minutes you will discover a lot of lustre among the unsung rookies of the major leagues.

* * *

Tuesday's tightest struggle was a 16-inning marathon which the Philadelphia Athletics finally won from the Washington Senators 2-1 after both teams had gone scoreless for 15 frames. The star was Jesse Sandoval Flores, a stocky, 26-year-old native of Mexico who came up to the A's this spring from Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast league.

In his first start last Thursday he held the Boston Red Sox to two hits but was beaten 1 0 by Tex Hughson, who pitched a three-hitter in rebuttal. Yesterday Flores was matched with Early Wynn in a pitching duel that was a classic, even if you discount the balata ball.

Wynn was removed for a pinch-hitter in the 13th, but Flores continued till two were out in the 16th, when he finally had to have help from Roger Wolff. However, the A's had clipped Ray Scarborough for two runs in the meantime for a winning margin.

In the National league at New York it was young Sid Gordon who highlighted the Giants' 11 to 3 conquest of the Boston Braves by walloping a three-run homer in the fifth inning to place the issue beyond doubt. Joe Burns, who was in semi-pro ball last year, hit a home run for the Braves.

The victory lifted the Giants out of the National league cellar and after game they got another boost by obtaining Catcher Ernie Lombardi, the batting champion, from the Braves for Catcher Ray Poland and Infielder Connie Ryan.

Rookies brought the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-1 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds, too. With the score tied 1-1 in the eighth inning, two freshman pinchhitters, John Wyrostek and Tommy O'Brien, delivered a pair of singles that brought home three runs.

Seasoned performers dominated the other games, although Otto Denning, who is now at first base even if not new to the American league, was the king pin in Cleveland's 4-2 conquest of the Chicago White Sox. He hit two doubles, drove in the two deciding runs and starred defensively with an unassisted double play, 18 putouts and one assist.

Tex Hughson achieved his second victory as the Red Sox handed the New York Yankees their first defeat 5-1 in an odd game in which Boston was held to six hits while the Yanks made 12. New York left 14 runners stranded.

* * *

The Brooklyn Dodgers beat the Phillies 4-2 in a sloppy session marked by seven errors of which four were Brooklyn's.

Detroit's home bow with the St Louis Browns was postponed.

With Mort Cooper hurling five-hit ball for his first victory of the season and his mates pounding five runs across the plate in the first inning, the world champion St Louis Cardinals got their home season off on the right note by blanking the Chicago Cubs 7-0 before 6,991 fans

POSTPONE CLOSING OF PARKING LOTS

PAWTUCKET, R. I. — (UP) — Parking lots near Narragansett race track continued to operate today after officials of the oval postponed compliance with a request from state OPA Director Christopher Del Sesto to close the automobile stations.

Del Sesto asked track officials to close the parking lots in the interest of the national gasoline rationing program. But President James E. Dooley of the Racing association replied in a letter that the "question was of too much importance for a hurried decision" and asked for a conference.

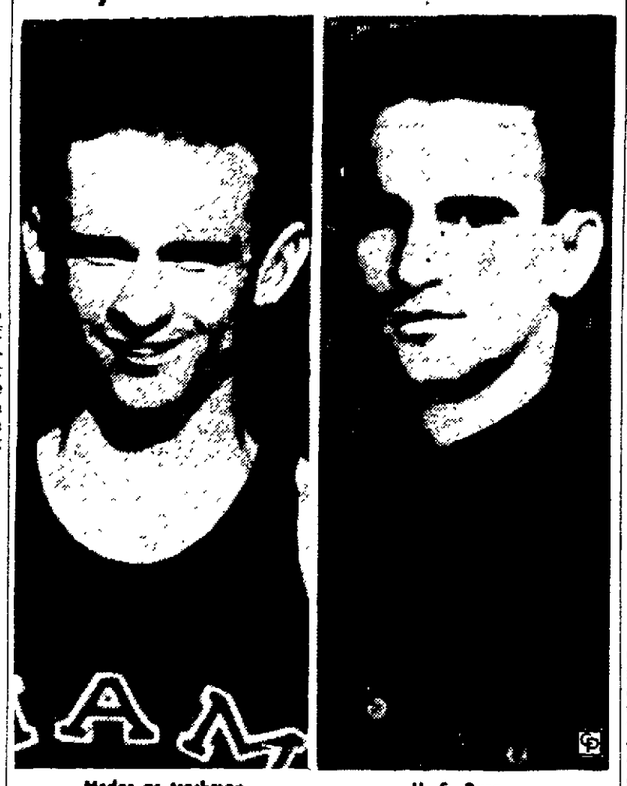
Tokyo Raider Ex-Track Star



Meder as trackman — U. S. flyer

Lieut. Robert J. Meder of Lakewood, O., one of the eight U. S. airmen who took part in the Tokyo raid and who was captured by the Japs, was an outstanding track star during his undergraduate days at Miami university, Oxford, O. Meder ran the half-mile and also on the mile relay team while at Miami, four years ago. He was active in many things on the campus. Whether Meder was one of the fliers executed by the Japs is unknown.

Association Launches 42nd Season With 4 New Managers

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The American association launches its 42nd campaign Thursday with four new managers, seven new umpires, and scores of new players.

The double-A loop goes into its fourth war-time season determined to battle right down to the finish line, President George L. Trautman said today, despite the loss of talent and other restrictions made by the world conflict.

The Association chapter of Baseball Writers has selected the Columbus Red Birds, playoff and little world champions of 1942, to grab this year's flag behind the colorful management of Nick (Hipper Dipper) Cullop, who plans to take an occasional turn in the outfield, and numerous turns at bat as a pinch-hitter.

The scribes' concensus was that the clubs would finish in this order — Columbus, Milwaukee, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Toledo, Minneapolis, Louisville and St. Paul — but Prexy Trautman declared anyone picking the winner was merely making good on a "wild guess."

Toledo offers an innovation by opening the season under the lights against Indianapolis, Thursday afternoon inaugurals have Columbus entertaining Louisville, Kansas City's defending flag-winners at St. Paul, and Milwaukee's Brewers at Minneapolis.

Prexy Trautman said the AA would have a ball as lively as the one which it used a year ago.

New skippers, in addition to Cullop of Columbus, are Donie Bush at Indianapolis, "Salty" Parker at St. Paul, and colorful Jack Fournier at Toledo. Holdover managers are Johnny Neun at Kansas City, Bill Burwell at Louisville, Charley Grimm at Milwaukee, and Tom Sheehan at Minneapolis.

Umpire James Boyer is the only arbiter who was on hand for the 1942 openers. The other "boys in blue" are Collins Fenton and Rollie Naylor, assigned to the Louisville-Columbus game; Ira Gordon, who teams with Boyer for the Toledo night tilt; Ray Snyder and Ray Oppegard, who will call 'em at St. Paul's inaugural, and George Murray and Milton Steengrafe, who go to Minneapolis.

The game was tied up, 2 to 2, at the end of the first inning, but Shelby forged ahead by six points on the second inning and was never behind after that.

The Whippets have two more games this week. On Thursday they go to Galion to open the season for the Orangemen and on Friday entertain New Haven here in a postponed game.

See Wave As Threat To Count

May Set Fast Pace For Count In Derby.

By SID FEDER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — A number of the neighbor's children agreed definitely today that while the Wave might not sink the Fleet in Saturday's 69th Kentucky Derby, he would make it keep up a full head of steam to reach port in front.

* * *

Now, this is not saying that Count Fleet no longer is the head man of the likely field of nine definite and two ther possible starters still in the running for the $75,000 Rose Necklace Saturday afternoon.

But there's no longer the casual "ho-hum," the "Fleets in" feeling in crowded Derbyville, because Ocean Wave showed convincingly he has more than "just a prayer" against the Count when he cake-walked home with the derby trial mile yesterday by nine lengths over a dozen other derby eligibles.

And, in spite of the cracked heel with which he came out of the race—an injury trainer Ben Jones tossed off as "nothing much at all"—the horsey set changed their argument from "who's going to chase the Fleet home" to "Ocean Wave might grab it all."

The Count didn't do a bit of harm to this position yesterday when he splashed through a mile-and-a quarter in 2:07, with his regular jockey Johnny Longden just sitting aboard.

At the same time, the Wave rolled through the trial mile in 1:38 1-5. The track was strictly from gumbo.

The Wave also washed out several other hopeless "Hopefuls," such as Seven Hearts, the Arkansas derby winner that wound up seventh and appeared to have "something hurting him," as trainer A. Graves Sparks put it, and Burnt Cork, the pride and joy of "Rochester" of the radio, staggering home last, laying an egg like the worst gag his owner ever had a hand in.

At the same time, the trial mile turned up a new dark horse in Slide Rule, owned by W. E. Boeing, the airplane man Slide Rule acted up at the barrier, had to start from outside the gate, and made up 18 lengths in a long, powerful haul that brought him home second.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mar's No Wrinkles finished third yesterday, and is a definite starter, along with Mrs. Henry L. Finch's Modest Lad, fourth, and Dove Pie, from the barn of J. Warfield Rodgers of Memphis.

Townsend Martin's Bankrupt and Twoses, the other half of Boeing's pair of steppers, bring up the rear.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Another angle of the dying subject of the dead baseball . . . During the spring exhibition season, when the clubs still were using 1942 leftovers, major league teams playing against each other averaged 7.42 runs and 15.54 hits a game (for both teams) . . . Since the advent of the season and the balata ball, the average (up to yesterday's games) was 6.06 runs and 14.33 hits . . . Our conclusion is that there's not much wrong with the "baloney" ball that a Ty Cobb or Willie Keeler wouldn't cure.

Four Teams Lined Up for Industrial Diamond League

Plans for the operation of the 1943 Mansfield Industrial Softball league will be discussed tonight when managers of the four teams entered in the loop and members of the 1942 Softball commission meet at the Y.M.C.A. at 7:30 p. m.

Four teams have been lined up for league play, John Fike, Y.M.C.A. physical director, announced this morning. Westinghouse, Ohio Brass Local 758, Mansfield Tire, and Great Lakes Steel company have signed to back teams. Fike said play probably would be started in mid-May.

A date for the payment of entry fees will be decided at tonight's meeting, Fike said.

The City Park loop will also meet tonight at 7:30 p. m. with representatives from the six teams charting plans for the coming season.

Teams from Johns, Prospect, North Lake, Liberty, Maple Lake, and John Todd parks are entered in this circuit.

Still needing a fourth team to make the proposed Mansfield Commercial baseball league a reality, managers and representatives of the three teams already lined up for play will meet tomorrow at the Y.M.C.A. att 7:30 p. m.

Fike said the starting date will probably be decided at this meeting but added that it was impossible to draw up a schedule until that fourth team enters the circuit.

Yuncker's and Athletic Supply sporting goods stores and a group of business men in the vicinity of Marion and Vennum avenues have agreed to back teams.

Nelson Gets New Assistant

Veteran Norm Cameron Returns To Ohio Links.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Before we swing into a few short shots at the Ohio sports picture, let us remind you that the second war loan drive is in its final week, so—

"Buy, buy bonds, or it may mean bye, bye freedom!"

Byron Nelson, Toledo Inverness professional, and former National Open, P.G.A. and Masters champion, has hired a new assistant. The newcomer is veteran Norman Cameron of San Francisco, well known in Buckeye links circles. In 1932-33 he was aide to Al Espinosa at Akron Portage, and he once helped Ed Kirby at St. Petersburg, Fla. He's the third assistant in three years at Inverness, Herman Land and Ray Jamison going to the army.

Remember Johnny Meier, the red-faced public links star from Toledo who won the Toledo district title a couple of years ago? He's Private Johnny Meier now, and last Sunday at the Arrowhead Country club in San Bernardino, Calif., he scored his first hole-in-one in 25 years. The first time he used a brand new No. 7 iron, he banged the ball into the cup on a 132-yard hole. Johnny's playing exhibitions with film colony folk, with the proceeds going to war benefits.

(Howell's column today included the News-Journal Sport Podge story of last Sunday on 2nd Lt. Johnny Hallabrin's "capture of Axis prisoners in Africa by remote control" which hardly needs repeating here. Thanks for the puff, Fritz. John also thanks you.—The Old Podger.)

Senate leaders said today the $32,000 appropriation to pay rental on Muskingum conservancy area fishing and hunting areas—slashed from the appropriation bill by the house—will be replaced and that Ohio's sportsmen will be able to use the eastern Ohio "paradise" as usual this year. Hunters and fishermen by the thousand, led by chapters of the Izaak Walton league, are credited with having the appropriation restored by flooding the legislature with letters protesting the house action.

SUPPLIES PRACTICE

Athletic Supply baseballers will go through their second practice session today at 5:30 p. m. at Liberty park, Manager Joe Heckert has announced.

Association Uses Ball Full Of Zip

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A ball with "plenty of zip" will be used this year in the American association, which starts its season Thursday, President George M. Trautman asserted today.

Trautman said manufacturers had assured him that all balls delivered to the association clubs would have plenty of zip—at least as much as last year's ball.

The association president asserted the league would finish its season even if clubs are riddled of talent by the draft.

BUCKS WALLOP CATS

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio State university's baseballers walloped the University of Cincinnati nine 10 to 1 here yesterday. The Bucks made their tallies on nine hits and were aided by five Cincinnati errors. In another college game yesterday, Miami university defeated visiting Earlham of Richmond, Ind., by a score of 12 to 0.

Al Smith Gets First Hill Call

Harder Turns In 190th Victory of Career.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Al Smith makes his 1943 hurling debut today as the Cleveland Indians seek their second straight victory over the White Sox. His opponent is Bill Dietrich, who was beaten by the St. Louis Browns last week.

The Tribesmen tallied all their runs in the seventh inning yesterday to register a 4 to 2 win. Thornton (Lefty) Lee, the White Sox pitcher, ran into "double trouble" in that inning.

Harder started it with a double to left. Oris Hockett, appearing in center field for the first time, laid down a bunt. Lee fielded the ball and heaved it over first base, Harder scoring and Hockett going all the way to third.

Manager Lou Boudreau connected for another two bagger to send Hockett home. Ken Keltner walked and Jeff Heath's bunt forced Boudreau at third for the first out. Roy Cullenbine popped up for the second out, but Otto Denning drove out the third two-baser of the inning to account for two more runs.

Harder received credit for the 190th victory of his 16-year career as an Indian.

REDS DEFEATED

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— The Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates play their second game here today, with the Reds still trying to resume the pace of the first two days of the season.

Bucky Walters, retired high hurdler, may get his first work, since he sprained an ankle in Bloomington, Ind., when spring training started. If he doesn't feel up to it, Elmer Riddle is the Cincinnati pitcher, against Wally Hebert.

Ray Starr's ambition to win 20 games with the dead ball was set back yesterday when the Pirates got to him in the eighth and won the ball game, 4 to 1.

Ray issued a couple of walks which developed into a Pirate run in the seventh, and in the eighth a walk, a sacrifice, an intentional walk, a hit batsman, and two singles made the winning runs.

Giants Get Big Lombardi

Schnoz Likes Polo Grounds Close Stands.

NEW YORK — (UP) — Ernie "Schnoz" Lombardi fell in love with the Polo grounds' left field stands years ago and today was delighted with the trade that shifted him from the Boston Braves to the New York Giants.

That's what the big, right-handed slugger said after yesterday's Braves-Giants game — after he had been notified of the deal by Bob Quinn, Boston's silver-thatched prexy.

Lombardi, who packs 235 pounds on a six-foot-two frame, beamed as he told reporters, "I've always hit well at the Polo grounds during the past 12 seasons I've visited here with other clubs. Those left field stands, fairly close in, seemed like perfect targets for me. I ought to do swell this season with the Polo grounds as my home field."

The towering Oakland, Calif, Italian did well last season — his first with the Braves. He won the National league batting championship with .330, repeating his 1938 performance with Cincinnati. That season he registered .342 and was voted the league's most valuable player.

Ernest Natali Lombardi is no stranger in these parts. His first season on the big time—1931—was spent in a Brooklyn uniform. Then he put in 10 seasons with the Reds.

YOU MEET SUCH INTERESTING PEOPLE IN SLIT TRENCHES!

By HAROLD BOYLE

WITH U. S. FORCES NORTHEAST OF BEJA, April 23—(Delayed) — (AP) — One of the most popular slit trenches in North Tunisia today was a shelter dug in a hillside under a German artillery bombardment by Pvt. James R. Foore, 21, of Defiance, Pa., who obligingly shared it with all comers.

It bordered a path leading to one of the forward American artillery observation posts which was under heavy fire. Every time an enemy shell plopped in the vicinity some military wayfarer popped headlong into Foore's slit trench.

"Come in," he said unnecessarily to one visitor who dived in so quickly that he came up with a mouthful of black loam.

"I've had all kinds of people in here today, but you're the first newspaper correspondent. What kind of news do you expect to find in a slit trench anyway? Nothing interesting ever happened in slit trenches. Take it from me. I know. I've been in this position six days and nothing ever comes by this place but shales, shells, shells.

"We get a barrage every day, but sometimesm it lasts only five or ten minutes, like today. On a day like that a man can get out of here for a stretch.

"During the last barrage I had a colonel in here with me and a British major was in the next slit trench. It kinda breaks the monotony when guys drop in that way.

"You get to learn things talking to them. By the way, what are our fellows doing in the Pacific?"

Pvt. Herbert Adery of Steubenville, was one of the soldiers waiting out the German fire in other slit trenches in the area.

OLD BELL IN COMEBACK

HILLSBORO, O. — (U.P.) — The Hillsboro village fire bell may be old but the war has brought it back into its own. The electric fire alarm siren has been replaced by the old bell. The siren, hereafter, will be used only in case of air raid warnings.

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

It's Ten Minutes to Midnight!

Wake Up, Americans . . . Your Country's Most Fateful Hour Is Near

THE hour when the final die is cast, when decisive victory hangs in the balance. The hour which will decide the future of you and your children . . . a future of joyous freedom or a future of endless serfdom.

Yes, it is ten minutes to midnight. And when the first stroke of that fateful hour begins to sound, it will be too late to throw your weight into the fight. The time to do that is NOW.

Now, when your dollars can keep the production lines humming. Now, when your dollars can buy the tanks and guns and planes and ships our soldiers need to fight a winning war . . . the only kind of a war we can afford to fight. Now, while there are still ten minutes before midnight.

Your country is asking you to lend your dollars in greater amount than ever before. It is asking for 13 billions of dollars extra this month . . . 13 billions for the weapons of war to make sure that it is our side which dictates the peace.

If we do not win, the money you fail to lend now will be worse than useless to you. If we win, as we must, the money you lend now will be returned with interest . . . for you to spend on the good things of life . . . for you to enjoy in a free and safe world.

So dig down, Americans. Answer the challenge by buying War Loan securities this month with every idle dollar you have except what you need for the barest necessities of life.

Don't wait for the War Loan Volunteer. Beat the gun by going to your bank, investment dealer, broker, Post Office, or bond booth today.

Have your money in your fist . . . the fist that can deliver the knockout blow to the Axis. But hurry . . .

For it is ten minutes to midnight . . .

The hour that can strike the knell of doom—or the blessed song of freedom.

Your dollars can call the tune.

There are 7 different types of U. S. Government securities—choose the ones best suited for you:

United States War Savings Bonds—Series E: The perfect investment for individual and family savings. Gives you back $4 for every $3 when the Bond matures. Designed especially for the smaller investor. Dated 1st day of month in which payment is received. Interest: 2.9% a year if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1000. Redemption: anytime 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969: Readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral, these Bonds are ideal investments for trust funds, estates and individuals. A special feature provides that they may be redeemed at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated April 15, 1943; due June 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, $1000, $5000, $10,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000. Redemption: Not callable till June 15, 1964; thereafter at par and accrued interest on any interest date at 4 months' notice. Price: par and accrued interest.

Other Securities: Series "C" Tax Notes; ⅞% Certificates of Indebtedness; 2% Treasury Bonds 1950-1952; United States Savings Bonds Series "F"; United States Savings Bonds Series "G".

'Maybe There Won't Be Any Peace Conference,' Says Davis

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO - - Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, put forth a new theory today that there may not be any peace conference at the end of the war.

"If it comes to the unconditional surrender of our enemies, there may simply be an occupation of the defeated countries," he said at a press conference in connection with the war conference of the National Association of Broadcasters.

After discussing the war, Davis said suddenly: "Now let's talk about the OWI." He produced a clipping of a Chicago Tribune editorial published last Saturday entitled "Office of Deception" and asserted "This editorial contains about as much misinformation per square inch as I have ever seen."

He said the editorial stated that there were 3,641 "draft dodgers" in the OWI.

"More than half the employes are women; they certainly aren't draft dodgers," he said. "Some of the men are over draft age. Anyway people working for our agency are not draft dodgers.

The OWI asked and received draft deferments for only 65 or 70 people, Davis declared, and has about 20 applications pending.

Referring again to the Tribune editorial which spoke of "Communists and fellow travelers who have infiltrated the OWI," Davis asked "where is the evidence?"

All OWI employes, he continued, were investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Federal Civil Service commission.

Davis said there was no evidence that any American prisoners other than some of the Tokyo bombers had been executed by the Japanese, and that although the Germans and Italians applauded the Japanese policy there was no indication they would follow suit because "there are too many German and Italian prisoners in Allied hands."

THEATERS

'People's War' Film.

The story of the "peoples war" against Nazism; the story of bitter, unyielding resistance against a mentality that knows only force as its weapon and denomination as its creed is clearly told in"Edge Of Darkness," now playing at the Ohio. The picture stars Errol Flynn and Ann Sheridan and has a supporting cast which includes Walter Huston, Nancy Coleman, Tom Fadden, Judith Anderson and many others. The action unfolds in a small Norwegian town which has been trampled by the Nazis. The Norwegian underground movement is featured. The film is directed by Lewis Milestone, the man who brought to the screen "All Quiet On the Western Front."

Sothern-Douglas

Ann Sothern and Melvin Douglas come to the screen as a new romantic team in "Three Hearts for Julia," now showing at the Ritz. Miss Sothern forsakes the flippancy of Maisie and Douglas becomes a rather serious journalist in their new characters. Complications start when Douglas returns from two years abroad to find his wife, Julia (Miss Sothern), planning to divorce him and completely absorbed in the affairs of a feminine symphony orchestra. He also finds he has two rivals in the persons of Lee Bowman and Richard Ainley. But the bewildered husband and the musical wife finally get their troubles ironed out. Co-attraction at the Ritz is "Street of Chance," starring Burgess Meredith and Claire Trevor.

Notice is hereby given, that Mary Larthee, Butler, Ohio, has been duly appointed and qualified as executrix in the estate of Marion R. Larthee, deceased. Late of Worthington, Richland County, Ohio. Date April 12, 1943.

S. H. CRAMER,
Probate Judge of Richland County, O.
(Apr. 14, 21, 28, MJ '43)

LEGAL NOTICE

Alma Colliver, last known place of residence and mailing address being 926 Superior Street, Detroit, Michigan, will take notice that Alfonso Sposito has filed suit against her in the Municipal Court of the City of Mansfield, Richland County, Ohio, Case No. 11536, praying for judgment of $189.35 for damages to plaintiff and his property, caused by the negligent action of the defendant, and also, that an order for attachment has been issued out of said court, and the Bailiff of said court has attached a 1939 Chevrolet 2-door sedan, Michigan License CW-85-16, and the defendant is required to answer in said cause on or before the 19th day of May, 1943, or judgment will be taken and the attached property sold.

C. J. KALBFLEISCH,
15½ East Third St.,
Attorney for Plaintiff.
(Apr. 7, 14, 21, 28, May 5, 12, MJ '43)

This is no joke! It has happened to thousands accustomed to full iceboxes before Pearl Harbor.
In this case, however, the icebox might have been better stocked had the lady not used up her ration coupons before more were available and expended too many points for too little.
It was all in the newspapers, her husband is telling her. Had she watched them for ration reminders this wouldn't have happened!
He is right. Keeping you up with your ration news is only one way your newspaper serves the home.
It helps you to meet the whole new impact of war on the home-front . . . to stretch your food dollars further . . . to safeguard your health through scientific diet and expert advice . . .
To make you a better homemaker whether it's to fashion your own spring suit or to refurbish the living room . . . to assist you in your war effort generally whether it's showing you how to grow a better victory garden or more ably serve civilian defense . . .
Imagine, in fact, waging this war without newspapers!

ELECTION SET

BUCYRUS - - Bucyrus Country club will open the 1943 season with a stag smoker at the club tonight which will also serve as an opportunity for members to become acquainted with the new pro, Perry Beckett, who recently arrived to take up his duties here.

Date for the official opening will be set tonight and officers for the year elected.

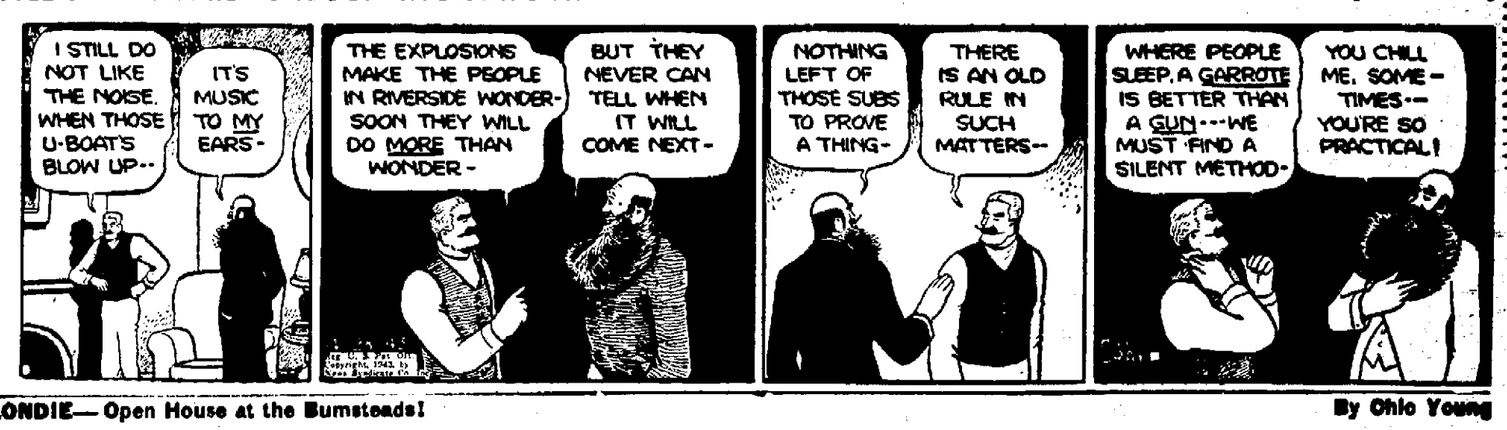
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE— Should Be Neat But Not Loud. By Harold Gray



I STILL DO NOT LIKE THE NOISE WHEN THOSE U-BOAT'S BLOW UP--
IT'S MUSIC TO MY EARS-
THE EXPLOSIONS MAKE THE PEOPLE IN RIVERSIDE WONDER- SOON THEY WILL DO MORE THAN WONDER-
BUT THEY NEVER CAN TELL WHEN IT WILL COME NEXT-
NOTHING LEFT OF THOSE SUBS TO PROVE A THING-
THERE IS AN OLD RULE IN SUCH MATTERS--
WHERE PEOPLE SLEEP, A GARROTE IS BETTER THAN A GUN---WE MUST FIND A SILENT METHOD-
YOU CHILL ME, SOMETIMES-- YOU'RE SO PRACTICAL!

STOCK MARKET TRENDS MIXED, SALES ACTIVE

Quarterly Operations Report of U. S. Steel Studied as Industry Indicator.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stock market trends were mixed in moderately active dealings today.

Ahead in early transactions were, among others, Southern Railway, Douglas Aircraft and Johns-Manville. Laggards included U. S. Steel, Standard Oil (N. J.), General Electric and Western Union.

U. S. Steel's quarterly operations report, which accompanied declaration of the usual $1 a share dividend on common stock, was studied for possible reflection of the industry's position. U. S. netted $15,406,597 for the first quarter, equal after preferred dividend requirements to $1.04 on common. For the first quarter of last year it showed a net of $2.48 a common share, later cut sharply by tax adjustments.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Wheat jumped as much as a cent at the opening today on covering by previous short sellers, modest milling support and purchases stimulated by reports the Commodity Credit corporation was selling as much as one million bushels daily for livestock feeding.

Wheat started unchanged to 1 cent higher, May $1.43⅜-1.43⅝, July $1.43½-1.43⅞, and corn was unchanged at ceilings, May $1.05.

WILL GET GAS

Army To Be Supplied Despite Curtailment, Says Ickes.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes today bluntly told congress that the synthetic rubber program has curtailed production of high octane gasoline vitally needed to keep American and United Nation fighting planes in the skies on all war fronts.

Despite this curtailment, however, he assured the senate Truman committee that almost "miraculous" record is now being established in production of octane gas and that the army will get all the high octane gas requested last summer.

Ickes said that directives issued by the war production board for building synthetic rubber plants over gas plants has resulted in a loss of 4,413,600 barrels of 100 octane gasoline.

MARTS RAPPED

Resolution In Ohio House Hits Easy Marriages.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—A resolution asserting that "marriage marts maintained in certain counties of Ohio are a disgrace to the state" has been introduced in the house of representatives, calling for creation of a commission to investigate application of the marriage statute.

Sponsored by Reps. Kenneth S. Nash, R., Cuyahoga, and George B. Marshall, R., Franklin, the resolution said "certain probate judges in Ohio have flagrantly violated the letter and spirt of the Ohio statutes pertaining to the issuance of marriage licenses," the resolution said.

Former Mansfield Resident Buried In Cleveland Monday.

Funeral services were conducted in Cleveland Monday for Mrs. Linda Coss, former Mansfield resident, who died Saturday in Cleveland, friends in Mansfield learned today.

Mrs. Coss, who left Mansfield in 1937, has been in failing health for three years and had made her home with her son, John W. Coss, also a former Mansfielder. Her husband, John H. Coss, died 13 years ago.

Surviving, besides the son, with whom she made her home, are a daughter, Mrs. Florence Clarke of Detroit, a sister, Mrs. Frank Hanbridge, San Leandro, Calif., and one grandson.

ESCAPE PRISON SECOND TIME

Georgia Convicts Make Getaway Using Pistol.

MACON, Ga.—(U.P.)—Authorities began another search today for Leland Harvey and D. C. Black, Georgia's escape specialists, who broke out of the county jail less than 48 hours after they had been recaptured following their escape from the state prison at Reidsville.

Armed with an automatic pistol a Negro trusty had smuggled to their cell, the pair fought and shot their way to freedom last night in their second break in two weeks.

The Negro trusty, David Denson, confessed the pair gave him $25 to purchase a pistol on a trip outside the jail.

TORNADO LEAVES PATH OF RUIN TO NORTH OF CITY

Homes, Barns Destroyed or Damaged; 2 Die at Medina; Cleveland, Akron Hit.

patrolmen said was "blown from somewhere" crashed into cabins at a tourist camp on U. S. Route 42, east of Mansfield. Furniture from the cabins was blown out over the highway.

Fifty birch trees were uprooted at the Milo W. Hieber residence, Springmill road. One of them fell across a porch at the home.

Scores of homes were torn from their foundations in Cleveland. War plants were damaged and some so badly they were forced to curtail operations today.

Nine persons were injured when the Newburgh works of the American Steel and Wire company's Cleveland plant was hit. The plant was thrown into darkness, windows were blown in, and roofs were swept off smaller buildings.

Automobiles were upset on the streets and scores of them were damaged by falling trees. Other sections similarly affected were Lakewood and Painesville.

In Akron, a spokesman for the Goodrich Rubber company said damage to its plants will be "between $50,000 and $100,000." About 10 per cent of the production force was made idle but he expressed the belief that work will be resumed this afternoon. Some damage was also reported at the Goodyear plant.

Only fatalities of the northern Ohio area were the deaths of two children, Richard Paternoster, 12, and Tony Fernbach, 9, both of Medina. They were in a barn when the wind demolished it, burying them under the broken timbers. Both were orphans.

While it appeared less in severity as it struck the Richland county area, the tornado's approach here was similar to what was experienced in the area farther north.

Richie, whose farm home was virtually destroyed on the Olivesburg road, related a typical story of what happened.

"There was a lot of lightning and rain just before the wind hit," he related.

"I was sitting in the living room with my daughter and Mrs. Richie was in the kitchen. All of a sudden the house began to move and the plastering and timbers started to fall down on us.

"It happened so quickly that I couldn't get from the living room to the kitchen where my wife was before it was all over.

"We were mighty lucky not to have been killed or injured. I don't know just how we escaped. We must have ducked or something just in time."

Other farmers in the region of the Richie home said that as the twister approached, it made a noise "like a freight train going hell bent for election."

The twister had its freak turns as well as its devastating ones.

A garage located less than 50 feet from a farm house was lifted from its foundation and plopped down in a heap 25 feet away. The automobile inside was undamaged and the house closeby also was unscathed.

Fifteen-foot timbers blown from the reformatory barn were hurled as far as 500 feet and left sticking upright in the ground, much as if they had been thrown by an athlete in a javelin throw.

A dozen big bales of barbed wire fence piled up in a ravine near the barn were scattered 500 feet over a field. Two of the big bales were unrolled.

Early today, Richland county Red Cross emergency units were in readiness to lend a hand if necessary.

The Red Cross disaster relief and preparedness committee today was checking damage and offering shelter and assistance wherever it was needed. Robert Black is disaster chairman. C. C. Beelman's survey committee was also on the job.

About 15 members of the AFL Teamsters' Union working with Rudy Schneider, business agent, provided trucks and assistance in moving household goods from the Richie home.

Throughout the area farmers gave a helping hand to neighbors whose buildings were damaged.

Homes in the vicinity of Springmill and northward toward Shelby were without lights for about four hours due to broken high tension lines. Damage in the area was repaired last night, R. D. Iden, distribution superintendent of the Ohio Public Service company, said.

Telephone lines to Mansfield, Norwalk and New London were out of commission. Calls were re-routed until broken lines are repaired.

Bulbs in some street lights were shaken loose from their sockets at Ashland, repairmen reported.

In the Crestline area, a garage roof was born off at the Henry Sutter farm. Barns on the farms of Tollie A. Kreps and Calvin Krichbaum were also damaged.

Two garages were blown into the Huron river at the William Scheid farm near Willard. A slate roof was torn off the Scheid farm.

The Alfred Scheid farm home was virtually destroyed and several farm buildings were damaged. Scheid had to saw through timbers in order to free livestock trapped in the barn.

Red Cross Rushes Aid To Tornado Area

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The American Red Cross announced today that nursing supervisors and disaster workers were being sent to Ohio to aid the injured and homeless as a result of the damage done by the Tornado.

William Carl Hunt, manager of the eastern emergency branch, said that reports received in Washington disclosed that 1,000 homes were damaged in Akron and that 56 were in hospitals; two were killed in Medina and 40 had been hospitalized in Cleveland.

Hailstones Like Golf Balls Hit Ohio Town

DEFIANCE — (INS)— Hailstones as large as golf balls covered the ground in Evansport, north of Defiance, as a storm accompanied by brisk winds swept northern Defiance county last night.

No one was reported injured, but hail broke many windows and several barns were blown down. Ridgeville Corners, northeast of Defiance, reported excessive damage to windows.

PHILADELPHIA — (U.P.) — Eleven-months-old Joyce Westover, Newton Falls, O., was under examination at the famed Chevalier Jackson clinic of Temple University hospital, preparatory to an operation to remove a cyst from her windpipe.

The child, her mother, Mrs. Lester Westover, and Mrs. Lester VanWinkle, a family friend, flew here from Akron, O., last night.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's bombers blast two 4,000-ton Japanese ships, wreck enemy wireless station.

BURMA—Lull marks British-Japanese land fighting; RAF bombers pound Japanese base at Akyab.

On the Tunisian front, French troops armed with new American equipment were pressing the sharpest immediate threats to the enemy's "coffin corner" defenses, driving within three miles of Lake Achkel in the north and storming into the outskirts of Pont Du Fahs in the south.

The western shores of Lake Achkel lie only 18 miles from Bizerte.

Dispatches said General Patton's Americans were attacking Axis hill positions south of Jefna, 11 miles from Lake Achkel, and were only 10 miles west of Mateur, 18 miles southwest of Bizerte.

In the Russian campaign, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia declared decisive battles "are in the offing," but there was no hint of a grand-scale offensive by either side and the long front was generally quiet.

Soviet headquarters said the Red army's big guns destroyed 10 German blockhouses and dugouts "west of Rostov" and this suggested the Russians were beginning to hammer the long-held Nazi stronghold at Taganrog on the Sea of Azov.

A war map published by Hitler's newspaper yesterday said the battle line "touches" Taganrog.

British, Nazi Ships Clash In Channel

(By Associated Press)

German and British light naval forces clashed in the channel off the coast of Brittany early today (Wednesday), the German radio asserted in a broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press.

The Germans said that in a two-hour fight their craft scored several heavy hits on enemy destroyers and that the German units returned safely to their bases.

The German claims were not confirmed by Allied sources.

Score Torpedo Hit On Enemy Ship

LONDON — (AP)— British aircraft of the coastal command scored a torpedo hit on a medium-sized enemy merchantman off the Norwegian coast yesterday afternoon and returned without loss, the air ministry reported today.

A British bomber was lost last night after a mine-laying expedition in enemy waters, the communique said.

Attacks Polish Exile Government

MOSCOW— (AP)—Soviet Russia's official government newspaper, Izvestia, published an article today signed by Wanda Vasilevskaya, president of the "Union of Polish Patriots," in which she declared that the Polish government-in-exile with headquarters in London does not represent the Polish people.

"The people did not choose or appoint, and did not give any authority to this government," she said.

"The present government undertook the functions of remnants of the Polish government that fled from Poland — the Ridz-Smigly government of the September defeat of Poland."

(Yesterday Polish circles in Washington were described as expressing a fear that the Polish-Russian situation would be complicated by the setting-up of a free Polish regime with headquarters in Moscow, two governments-in-exile then presumably to speak for Poland.)

Four Speakers at Nurse Recruiting Rally

Shown above are the four speakers at the Red Cross Nurse recruiting rally held last night at John Simpson junior high. They are right to left, Mrs. James A. Bines, commanding officer of the Perak ambulance corps of the British Army and last white woman to leave Singapore before the occupation of the Japanese; Lieut. Edna E. Sharritt, Army Nurse Corps; Miss Mary McDevitt, R. N., Red Cross Nurse consultant, and Miss Mabel Selfe, head of the nursing school at Mansfield General hospital. This rally was one of the thousands which are being conducted over the United States by the Red Cross to recruit 36,000 nurses this year for military service.

Elyria, described her experiences in Malaya and Singapore. The town of Ipol where she was stationed experienced 23 raids in 12 hours, she stated. The story of Malaya she spoke of as being a repetition of "too little, too late."

"I saw the streets of Singapore run red with blood," said Mrs. Bines as she described the job of clearing away bodies, which fell to her ambulance unit. Mrs. Bines escaped on one of the three cattle boats which were able to get out of Singapore only minutes ahead of the invading Japanese. Of the 3,000 who escaped, 2,500 were lost when two of the boats were sunk and the other strafed with machine-gun fire.

Other speakers on the program included Lieut. Edna E. Sharritt, Army Nurse corps, who stated that the nurses can't look at the war with unconcern, can't say "I'll go when they need me, let someone else go now," but urged all available eligible nurses to join the army or navy now.

She called on the thousands of retired nurses to help on the home front and release other nurses for duty with the armed forces. She said that 56,000 students must enroll in schools of nursing this year, 100,000 women must enroll as volunteer nurse's aides and 1,000,000 women on the home front must take the home nursing course offered by the Red Cross, if war needs are to be met.

Miss Mary McDevitt, Red Cross nurse consultant, spoke of the recruiting stations over the county which have the three-fold job of recruiting nurses for military service, nurse's aides and home nurses. She said that it is especially important that women in rural communities be trained in home nursing so that they may lighten the load of the already over-worked doctors.

More than 300 nurses, nurses' aides and home nurses in uniform took part in the processional. Following the playing of the national anthem by the Camp Perry band the curtain was opened on a living portrayal of the Red Cross poster of the Red Cross nurse flanked on either side by a marine, a soldier, a sailor and an aviator. Mrs. Mary Anglin sang "Angel's of Mercy," song of the Red Cross nurses.

Music by the Camp Perry band and the showing of the picture "No Greater Glory" completed the program.

MURDERER GETS QUICK JUSTICE

Sentenced For Life 24 Hours After Killing.

SHAWANO, Wis.— (INS)— In a remarkable example of speedy justice, Reinhold Flessert, 25-year-old farm hand, was to start serving a life sentence for first degree murder today less than 24 hours after the crime was committed.

Flessert yesterday shot and killed John Perrar, 45, cashier, in an attempted bank holdup in Birnamwood, was captured by a posse in a farmhouse nearby in midafternoon, pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge Arnold Murphy a few hours later and immediately was sentenced.

Member of Shelby Church 74 Years, Dies Tuesday at 85

SHELBY — Mrs. Matilda Sipe Crall, 85, former Shelby teacher and holder of the longest continuous membership in the Shelby Methodist church, died Tuesday night at the home of a niece, Mrs. Ida Kreider, in Shelby.

Mrs. Crall lived most of her life in Shelby and was a member of the Methodist church for 74 years. She directed the church choir for 14 years. A number of years ago she was a teacher in the city's schools.

She was a native of Paw Paw, Ill., where she was born April 19, 1858. A number of nieces and nephews survive.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. at the Dye Funeral home with Rev. George Beebe, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Five Army Truck Drivers Fined for Ignoring Signals

Mansfield's traffic department today clamped down on civilian drivers of army trucks who have been speeding through the city without observing traffic regulations.

The arrest yesterday of five drivers of army mechanized equipment for going through red lights on Park avenue west, marked the beginning of a campaign by traffic officers to halt the flagrant violation of rules that must be observed by other civilian drivers, Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals said.

The five drivers, all from outside the city, were fined $3 each. The drivers registered vigorous complaints, adding that they would have to pay their fines from their own pockets.

"Other motorists have to do the same thing," Boals countered.

The traffic commissioner said army units would be given police escort any time they notified the police department in advance of their coming, but civilians who are hired to drive government equipment must observe traffic regulations.

One of the drivers yesterday accused the city of failing to cooperate in the war effort, asserting that to hold up army trucks delayed the war program. Boals said the trucks were en route to a government equipping center to receive additional equipment. A number of them have gone through the city in recent weeks.

The city, meanwhile, had hopes today of collecting $260 damages to the traffic light at Park avenue west and Mulberry street which was torn down by an army truck several weeks ago. Mayor W. L. Locke said the civilian driver of the truck had been located and had promised to arrange settlement with the city.

SIXTH CHARGED

Man Arrested For Aiding Fugitive Carl Straka.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — A sixth person was charged today with harboring Carl Straka, 41, a fugitive shot and captured by federal bureau of investigation agents Friday night to end a 10-year search for the former Bellaire salesman.

Hiram Barnett, 31, of Belmont county yesterday pleaded innocent before U. S. Commissioner Robert Newlong to shielding Straka in 1941 and was bound over to the grand jury under $2,000 bond.

ST. LOUIS — (U.P.) — Funeral services for Ernest A. Hamwi, originator of the ice cream cone who died at his home here yesterday, will be held tomorrow. He was 59.

OPA SCORED IN GARDEN TIE-UP

Committee Says Failure To Give Local Panel Extra Gas Order Delays Work.

Failure of the OPA to release additional gasoline to Mansfielders to enable them to reach their gardens today was blamed for delaying the city's industrial Victory garden project.

F. A. Berkey, head of the industrial division of the garden program, said workers in a number of Mansfield industries were "seriously concerned" about how they were going to get their gardens planted unless they can get some extra gasoline.

The OPA announced last week that workers whose gardens are a considerable distance from their homes will be allowed enough gas to travel 300 extra miles during the summer. The Richland county rationing panel, however, has not been authorized to release the gas although it anticipates the release order this week, board representatives said.

Berkey, who is with the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, said tire plant workers had 17 acres of land for gardens northeast of the city, but because many of the prospective gardeners live a long distance from the garden plot they haven't had the gas to drive to it.

Other Mansfield plants have set aside land at the outskirts of the city for employe gardens and are faced with the same problem, he said.

CLEVELAND CAR PARLEY FAILS

Negotiations Broken Off By Union Strike Vote.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.)— Negotiations were broken off abruptly today between the Streetcar Men's union (AFL) and the City Transit system and a new strike deadline set for midnight tonight.

The strike vote was taken last night at a meeting of 250 union members. The union claims a total membership of more than 3,500.

Walter J. McCarter, general manager of City Transit, said the city "will refuse to negotiate with a strike deadline hanging over our heads."

STRIKE, BAYONET LINES LOOMING IN COAL ROW

U. S. Expected To Act Quickly When Miners Carry Out Lewis' Threat.

Steel industry sources estimated their reserves would last only two weeks to a month, since full blast operation has prevented building them up. In addition, soft coal provides the primary fuel for many war vital power plants, as well as the principal energy for many types of transportation, including railroads.

The wage issue key to the situation concerns renewal of the Appalachian contract in which Lewis seeks a $2 increase in the basic daily wage, a minimum of $8 a day, pay for underground travel and unionization of minor bosses. The Appalachian fields include mines in Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia, Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee which hire about 450,000 miners.

However, that contract also usually sets the wage structure in Alabama, Illinois and western Kentucky districts—involving about 150,000 more miners—and dissatisfaction over progress of the Appalachian negotiations was blamed by union spokesmen in those areas for the spreading stoppages.

While little picketing was reported, by late yesterday roughly 60 mines were shut down in the affected areas and approximately 50,000 miners had not shown up for work—bringing estimates that production had been cut between 200,000 and 300,000 tons a day.

In addition, there were indications thousands more miners were ready to follow suit Saturday if no solution is reached and union leaders issue a strike call.

The operators were to start presenting their case before the WLB panel today, despite Lewis' demand that they return to New York and negotiate further.

Ohioans Ready To Strike Friday

COLUMBUS — (UP)— Approximately 25,000 Ohio miners, members of the United Mine Workers union, will not work after Friday unless a new contract is signed with coal operators.

John Owens, president of UMW District 6 who left for New York to attend the policy committee meetings of the union, said the miners were reluctant to strike during the war crisis, but if there is no contract with the operators they were under no obligation to work.

10 More Mines Close In Kentucky

HARLAN, Ky.— (UP)—Ten additional southeastern Kentucky coal mines closed today when 2,500 men walked off their jobs, bringing the total number of Harlan county miners on strike to 6,500 in 21 mines.

6,000 West Virginia Miners Are Out

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — (AP)— At least 6,000 of West Virginia's 130,000 coal miners, who annually produce 150,000,000 tons of the war-vital fuel, were idle today with the threat of a state-wide strike growing by the hour.

A number of operations in Monongalia county shut down after the 6,000 pit diggers voted to "cease work" until a new wage agreement is signed.

A few other mines in Monongalia county continued operations, however, while all of the big pits in nearby Harrison and Marion county were producing at a near-normal rate.

Mines in southern West Virginia also were working.

The rest-pause that refreshes

Welcome in peace... more welcome in war work

WAR production needs are pressing. No time can be wasted on the job. Rest-pauses planned and timed are the efficient way to make every minute count. They lessen tension, break monotony, and increase output. Add refreshment to a rest-pause and you promote worker-contentment.

Ice-cold Coca-Cola is refreshment that does more than quench thirst. Drink it and you feel and enjoy a refreshing after-sense. Its clean, exciting taste always pleases, never tires. Coca-Cola offers something extra. All the difference between something really refreshing and just something to drink.

Letters from plant managers from coast to coast emphasize that the little moment for an ice-cold Coca-Cola means a lot to workers in war plants. It's a refreshing moment on the sunny side of things... a way to turn to refreshment without turning from work.

You work better when you are contented on the job. Remember, contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.

CHEERS GREET NEWS TOKYO'S MISSION GOAL

War Scribe With Task Force Sees Big Bombers on Hornet's Deck.

of golden tracers zipping up toward the target—in front, behind, to both sides, and some apparently through the middle.

In a few seconds, the hubbub was over, the plane and target were far off in the sky, and the gunners were congratulating each other:

"That was nice shootin'."

"That was good work."

I could see them slapping each other genially and smiling.

Our ship was to have another crack at the target, from the other side, but in the meantime, I could see planes with similar tows diving on a carrier and a destroyer which was within our vision.

The carrier was too far away to permit seeing the tracers rising into the sky. All I could see was the tiny dot of a plane over the ship. And all I could hear of the gunfire was a faint rattling and popping in the distance, like the distant rumbling of thunder.

An actual engagement, a young ensign told me, was often like that. Unless you happened to be in the very midst of the action, things you could see and hear were scattered and sporadic and not nearly so dramatic and compact as in fiction.

My view of the destroyer at target practice was also fragmentary. She was closer to our ship than the carrier had been. But here, part of our superstructure blocked a full panorama of the action.

I could see the destroyer firing, the long golden streaks of tracer bracing up obliquely into the sky. But I could not see plane or target, at first. Then I saw the plane pass over, but the target was invisible, from our distance, against the light sky.

A few moments later I saw the target sleeve sharply outlined against the blue water. It had been shot down and was fluttering into the waves.

During target practice two large green glass globes, of the type used by Japanese fishermen as floats for their nets, drifted by. The sight seemed ominous, indicating we were nearing Japanese waters.

But when our patrol planes comes in, the aviators reported they had seen nothing of the enemy; only a few patches of brown sea plant, and several floating logs.

In the evening, after the blackout of the ship had begun, the aviators sat long at the dinner table, busily "hangar flying" about their experiences. But their story for the day was best told by simply looking at their planes as they were stored away for the night—and the bombs removed intact from their racks.

There was electrifying news aboard the ship this morning. As the carrier which was part of our task force moved closer, it was announced that we are going to bomb Tokyo!

It is the action for which Americans have been wishing since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

A quiver of anticipation seemed to run over the ship. This was certainly the greatest story of the war so far.

There was another wave of excitement as binoculars were trained on the giant aircraft carrier Hornet which now moved closer to our ship. A high, irregular mass on the deck marked the presence of much larger aircraft than the usual carrier planes. As the ship drew nearer, we could make out the double tails, wide wings, and tricycle landing gears of B-25 army bombers.

These are the weapons which will be used in the attack on Tokyo—in a daring plan typically American in its ingenuity. Never before in war time has such a maneuver as this been planned; to send up land bombers twice as big as the usual carrier aircraft, from the deck of a ship.

Evidently, exhaustive tests must have been carried on in secret to prove that it is feasible to send such large craft skyward from the deck of a carrier.

Admiral William F. Halsey made clear some of the details of our planned assault.

Our force was told they would approach to a point about 400 miles from Tokyo. There the bombers would take the air, and we would hightail our way toward home.

Obviously, the bombers will not return to the carrier, for the landing space is not large enough for them.

Admiral Spruance suggested the possibility of a landing in China as he pointed out our position and course on the map.

The admiral was not over-optimistic about our chances of getting away unscathed, from this expedition. He spoke of the long range of the Japanese patrol aircraft which might spot us; also of the hundreds of small patrol vessels known to operate along the Japanese coast. He spoke of the need for lightning withdrawal after we have made our thrust.

At supper, the officers were as excited as boys about the bombing expedition. Humorous talk revolved around the $1,000,000 cash aggregate which is said to have been offered by various American interests as a prize for the first bomb dropped on Tokyo. How would the amount be divided among the squadron, the officers wondered.

Aviators speculated on the surprise angles: "Those Japs'll be crazy to know how a flock of B-25's got there."

The marine captain at the head of the table held up crossed fingers on both hands, and with his face screwed up with earnestness, shouted: "Oh, oh God, may they get there." He had evidently been thinking hard about the expedition all day.

This morning at breakfast talk was back on the subject of the bombing. One item in the news, which we had heard by radio, was stimulating to the conversation.

It was an announcement by Prime Minister Winston Churchill that a great Japanese fleet, including at least three battleships and five aircraft carriers, was operating in the Indian ocean.

This fact lent a cheering note to the conversation—for five carriers and three battleships in the Indian ocean are eight ships less for us to contend with in our assault on Japan.

Piecing the bits of news together, one gets the impression that perhaps our expedition had been timed by the United Nations joint council, so as to take place at the most propitious moment. A pattern seems to be taking shape, and there seems to be a high, guiding intelligence behind it.

Editor's Note: Tomorrow: Getting ready for the take-off.)

URGES OHIOANS TO INVEST IN HOME DEFENSE

Stone Points Out State Would Be Prize Target For Axis Warplanes.

war, and Ohio is one of the few states that is strategically located for industry and at the same time has soil rich enough to make it important agriculturally.

This presents a double hazard. Other than seeking to bomb industrial installations, the enemy may endeavor to burn wheat fields and destroy crops by sowing incendiary phosphorous cards. Hundreds of thousands of these small cards which ignite when dried out can be carried by a single plane. Like incendiary bombs, these cards have been used effective in Europe to destroy agricultural crops.

I may also add that lighted homes on highways that traverse Ohio's agricultural belt form a perfect pattern for enemy pilots and serve as guide posts to industrial areas.

These factors assume gigantic proportions when it is realized that 15.4 per cent of the state's population, or 1,065,657, resides on farms. Ohio's 233,783 farms annually produce and export thousands of tons of food stuffs which contribute directly to the maintenance of America's war effort.

Rural non-farm residents make up 11.8 per cent of the state's population, and they too must be considered in mapping a passive defense against air raids and sabotage.

The Ohio State Council of Defense in a recent 21-county blackout sent many observers into rural areas to determine whether enemy planes could set a course from lighted homes on important highways. In this particular test, it was discovered that a majority of farm residents were anxious to co-operate with rural air raid wardens and auxiliary police.

Blacking out rural sectors is a much harder job than dousing lights in a city. Defense corps personnel must cover much greater distances and the job becomes complex when rural residents cannot be immediately warned of the possibility of an air raid.

Warning systems have been established in a majority of counties, and villages with a population of 50 or more must blackout. Larger towns and cities throughout the state have excellent working organizations which can go into action on a moment's notice.

In the event of an air raid, state officials will immediately assemble at a state control center to direct operations of local defense councils and to dispatch equipment from one sector to another. Governor John W. Bricker and I would have available the facilities of various state departments, and directors of these departments would be present to give advice and assistance.

Rural areas therefore will receive as much help in the event of an air raid as cities and towns with important war construction plants.

We have not forgotten, for one moment, the importance of Ohio's agricultural belt should the state be attacked. Food is a weapon of war and we believe that the enemy may endeavor to destroy crops as well as industries.

For this reason, rural residents should be cognizant of the danger that will become more pronounced this spring and summer.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28, 1943.

As one convalescent observes, "A week in bed certainly gives you time to think."

Surprising how quickly enough war savings stamps can be accumulated to buy a bond—have you tried it?

It must be the principle of the thing—surely no newspaper man is greatly disturbed over staying away from a food conference.

Buy One More Bond NOW!

THE BIG bond purchases have already been made and the bank-buying limit will be reached—but there is still a deficit that must be made up by small purchasers if Richland county's $6,649,000 quota is to be reached by next Saturday night.

Putting over the campaign finally devolves, as usual, on the willingness of many people with "average" earnings to invest $18.75, or $37.50, or $75 in an additional war bond—one more bond than they had intended to buy.

Many instances could be cited in which men and women have strained their resources to the limit in order to increase their investment in bonds, but there are others who are apparently not yet impressed by the urgency of the need or the excellence of this investment.

First appeal is to patriotism—a plea to buy bonds to hasten victory. Second appeal is to thrift—an opportunity to put aside a part of earnings and savings for future use through purchase of interest-bearing government bonds—the safest investment in the world.

Buy one more bond between now and Saturday—it's something you'll never regret.

Russia's Quarrel With Poland

SOME IDEA of the complicated problems that will be up for solution "after the war," is gained from the present Russo-Polish imbroglio and the difficulties being encountered in trying to handle a rather delicate situation with Finland.

Assuming eventual complete defeat of Hitler and his associated Axis powers, it cannot be doubted that Russia will have a considerable voice in establishing Europe's new territorial bounds, nor can it be expected that either Great Britain or the United States will be in position to serve in more than an advisory capacity in fixing boundaries of what have been the buffer states between Germany and Russia—if restoration of those free states becomes a part of the post-war set-up, as has been repeatedly promised by the United Nations.

The present Russo-Polish squabble cannot be other than gratifying to the Axis powers as it seems, in at least a small way, to bear out Hitler propaganda of disunity among the Allies, and it may be hoped that the rupture will be healed before it assumes a more serious phase.

Most important task of the moment, in the European theater of war, is to unify all elements opposed to the dominance of Hitlerism, so that his overthrow can be accomplished at the earliest possible moment. Not until this has been done will there be any hope of restoring freedom to Europe's small nations that have been crushed by the Axis.

Except that the inclination to quarrel may indicate growing confidence in the nearer approach of victory, such incidents as the clash between Russia and the Polish government in exile had best be avoided until after the war—which is still far from being won.

Introducing Some Wild Vegetables

PEOPLE are doing more thinking and talking about food nowadays than is ordinarily done and are interested in various kinds of palatable and nourishing foods to which they had previously paid little attention. More people will be cultivating vegetable gardens this year than for a long time. It is a good way to beat the "food points" with Uncle Sam's blessing. And everybody knows that fresh vegetables raised with one's own hands taste better than any that can be bought.

But that isn't all. It seems that there are other sources for fresh vegetables that few city people know anything about. A man skilled in such things, who likes to forage in the woods and marshes, gets a surprising amount of edible vegetables furnished by nature without planting or cultivation. Things like cat-tail roots, for instance, which he says are delicious when roasted, and arrowhead, a common marsh plant which has roots like potatoes, as big as hen eggs.

Then there are milk-weed sprouts that taste somewhat like asparagus when they are short. And dandelions, of course, especially the tender inner leaves. And the evening primrose, with potato-like roots and sprouts that make fine greens when boiled. And the spring sprouts of brake ferns. And among familiar vegetables, of all things, pumpkin blossoms! He fries them in egg batter.

Youth's Impulse To Masquerade

THAT 17-year-old youngster who borrowed a soldier's uniform "to see how he looked in it" has been freed without prosecution, which—as an isolated incident—seems quite proper procedure.

Such things couldn't be allowed to go on, of course, but any adult is likely to take a tolerant attitude toward the youth's urge to masquerade in uniform.

While this is more applicable to the 8 to 12 age range, a 17-year-old youngster who "wasn't sure" about his own age could scarcely be expected to be capable of mature thinking, and he may never have been told that it was an offense for a civilian to wear a soldier's uniform around town.

It is quite unlikely that this boy will repeat the offense—and if there are any other lads in this community who "do not know any better" they should be told by parents or friends.

If only talents suddenly acquired could be passed on to succeeding generations, what masters of arithmetic the children of parents struggling with ration points should be!

Item: "A hole dug directly through the earth from New York would come out at Hobart, Tasmania"—but wouldn't that take too long!

The first thing, in planning the post-war world, is to make sure that Germany and Japan do not do the planning.

Had you noticed—the fewer the points, the less you like it.

DANGER ON THE HOME FRONT

See Danger In War-Time 'Boom'

By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—A sleepy little southern community of about 2000 population appealed some time back to the WPB for a war plant that would bring 10,000 workers into town. As William L. Batt, vice-chairman of WPB, tells the story, the mayor, various officials, and a large delegation wept all over the shoulders of the WPB men. They said there was very little cash money ever in their town, and what a Godsend this plant would be.

"But don't you realize the trouble you would be running into," one of Batt's lieutenants patiently explained. "In the first place this mob of new people, swarming into your town, would strain your school facilities, play hob with all your present arrangements, from your stores up and down, and generally mess you up.

"The worst feature, however, is to come. When suddenly the war stops, and we pull the plug on war orders, this plant will close down. There is no good way of converting it into anything else. It is strictly a temporary plant. Don't you realize what a headache that will be to you then?"

"Please—please," said the little town's mayor, "can't we have a headache like that just once?"

MR. BATT declines to say, in telling the story, whether the little town got the plant or not. He tells it, however, not for its humor, but to illustrate the difficulties which post-war America is going to encounter when the boys come home, wanting jobs, at precisely the same time that the war plants, with the "plug pulled," are converting to peace time pursuits in the hope of employing as large a fraction as possible of the workers who had been doing the war job.

Incidentally Mr. Batt, though an ardent advocate of the private enterprise system, is convinced that private industry will not be able to provide enough jobs to produce "full" employment when that time comes.

He believes the government, federal and local, will have to go in for a huge program of public works to take up the slack. Also he believes that government regulation, in far greater measure than was known prior to the war, will remain with us. He even says that private business will want it.

* * *

PERHAPS the most serious post-war conversion problem of any line of war industry will be shipbuilding. With production of ships—meaning commercial as differentiated from war ships—already at the rate of five a day, and still growing, it is easy to visualize the situation which will exist when the war is over.

So long as the contest lasts we will have to strain every nerve to produce more and more ships. If we had more ships today we could do a much better job in crushing Germany and Japan. Actually shipping is the most serious bottleneck there is.

But with the end of the war will come the end of submarine sinkings. For some time thereafter, probably, all the available ships will be usefully employed, bringing troops and material home, carrying relief to famine-stricken areas, etc. But that will pass, and we will have more ships than we know what to do with, just as we did after the last war.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, April 28, 1923.

Three hundred north-central Ohio postal employes held meeting at Masonic temple, with Postmaster Fred M. Bushnell as toastmaster. Senator Simeon D. Fess was principal speaker.

Miss Adelaide Robinson returned to Mansfield to spend summer after successful season as dancer in musical shows in New York.

Paul L. Kelley filed petition as Democratic candidate for nomination as city auditor.

Ameen Brothers wholesale fruit house was moved from 271 North Mulberry street to 150 North Main street to provide larger quarters.

Party was given for Billy Brooker, Glessner avenue, on his third birthday anniversary.

Mrs. William Berno went to New York to visit her daughter, Marie, who was in the east of "Within Four Walls" playing on Broadway.

Arthur Haneeq took position in Charles Zitzer music store.

Martin Brunner entertained a few school associates on 11th birthday anniversary.

Pursuit of Happiness

WE MAKE such a fuss about happiness. As if it were the main thing in life, the aim of all our struggles and the proof of our success . . . the bright reward for cleverness or decency.

Before we're barely able to shape thoughts in words, we think of happiness like that. Assume, unconsciously, that it's the Big Idea. And we're always puttering with some new plan or passion which we're sure will guarantee our joy for keeps.

And if, in spite of all our shining hopes, we're still unhappy. Then there's something wrong! Some person or circumstance has cheated us. Right lives are always happy. What's the use of doing or having anything unless it makes you glad?

Nothing novel about that reasoning, yes? You and I—we've spent a lot of living, thinking just that way. Perhaps we've never put it in those words but we've used Joy as if it were a measuring stick and felt that Fate had done us dirt unless our days were wreathed in smiles.

Well, I am no Minerva, Partner, but I'll wager this—

Such reasoning is eye-wash, judged by any code.

I will admit that Happiness is nice to have around. But life was never meant to be a bowl of bliss. I've yet to see a person happy who made happiness his aim.

I've seen real happiness at times . . . deep joy that lingered like a warming glow deep in the heart. But never have I seen it come because we willed it so. Rather, it was the bright by-product of a taller aim, and came when we least looked for it.

I knew a youngster once—a chemist who had struggled up without a helping hand. The poor kid didn't even have an extra pair of pants. He rarely saw a movie, heard a concert, both of which he loved. Yet you could feel joy moving through him like a song.

He had a dream—a dream of finding, some day, a certain healing drug. And so he dressed in rags, went short on meals, worked far past midnight in a shabby room—and was the happiest person I have ever known. For each day brought him nearer to the goal he craved—and reached.

There was a happy man. Yet never once did he make happiness his goal or grovel in self pity when some formula failed. I doubt if he even realized that he was happy when success arrived. He only saw the eyes and hands and hearts he'd saved from death.

AND HAPPINESS WAS SOMETHING THAT JUST HAPPENED ON THE SIDE.

We grasp for happiness so feverishly—as babies clutch the moon. Yet only those achieve it who forget that it exists, in some more valiant struggle for a nobler aim . . . some greater war which frees them from themselves.

The widowed mother of five tykes who once had medals as the village belle, yet now is working in some bargain basement for their keep—

The man who never married so that he might stay beside a crippled mother or helpless dad.

A Father Damien who gave his youth that he might bring some comfort to poor, rotting shells of men—

Thousands of boys and girls who serve today in stinking jungle swamps, on desert sands, that they may save the country which their fathers won—

I doubt if they seek happiness per se. They've found a wider vision waiting on the trail . . . a brighter blue-print for their eager lives—

THEY LIVE TO SERVE AND SHARE GOD'S MARCHING TRAIL, AND, IN THAT SERVICE, SMALLER JOYS ARE SWEPT ASIDE.

(Copyright 1943.)

Dave Boone Says:

THE OFFICE of defense transportation urges all Americans to cut out the idea that vacations are vacations only if taken in July and August, and it asks them to start and end them in the middle of a week instead of Saturday or Sunday. They ought to obey but it's going to take a heap of emphasis. Taking a vacation before the hot weather is something a fellow always wants some other fellow to do.

* * *

The boss will have to give 100 per cent co-operation with the ODT and issue "command vacation lists" to carry that idea out the way it should be. Starting a vacation on Wednesday is going to upset some folks but getting back in midweek won't make much difference. Even when they used to get back Monday morning they weren't much good for the rest of the week.

* * *

While the government is at this business of asking Americans to obey requests and orders it might help a lot if it would make John L. Lewis obey one now and then.

* * *

While millions of Americans are obeying orders, even to the point of death, the coal miners' boss defies the commander-in-chief and just about everybody else.

* * *

I guess that no matter what time John might be asked to take a vacation he would take it some other time just to show he wasn't like most of us.

Ship Companies Allowed to Add Donations to Cost-Plus Contracts

WASHINGTON—It seems inconceivable that war contractors could conjure up any more devices for swelling the cost of the war than those already being committed under the head of "administrative expenses" in cost-plus contracts.

However, the shipping industry has thought up a new one—charging charity contributions to the government.

Since last October, shipping companies have been charging up to "overhead expense" their donations to the United Seamen's Service, an organization which maintains rest homes for torpedoed merchant seamen. This "overhead expense" is passed on to the government through cost-plus contracts.

Amazing fact is that the War Shipping administration fully approves, even encourages, this practice. On Oct. 7, William Radner, WSA general counsel, sent a confidential "Legal Bulletin" to all merchant ship operators giving his blessing. He said:

"Inquiries have been received as to whether contributions made by agents (shipping companies), under service agreements, to United Seamen's Service, Inc., are reimbursable, or may be considered as part of the agent's overhead expenses under general order No. 12.

"Although contributions by agents to United Seamen's Service, Inc., are not reimbursable under the provisions of the service agreements, the amounts of such contributions may be included in the overhead expense of the agents in calculating any adjustment of compensation under the provisions of sections 10 and 11 of general order No. 12."

One of the companies which stands to benefit by this order is the Matson Line, which operates many merchant ships for the government. By a pure coincidence, WSA Counsel Radner, who issued the order, formerly was connected with the Matson Line's legal division.

Air Prisoners In Germany.

THE FATE of American fliers in the Doolittle raid has raised the question: What happens to airmen who go down over Europe? Here is the answer from an officer of the U. S. bomber command in England.

If fliers bail out and get down safely over France, Belgium or occupied Europe, their chances of getting back to England are pretty good. They become prisoners of war, but in the course of exchanging prisoners, they may soon get back to base.

If they bail out over Germany, there's not much chance of getting back. But so far as we know, the treatment of air prisoners is similar to that of other prisoners, and varies according to rank.

There is one incident, however, that damns the German record—the story of Paddy Finucane. Most people suppose that the famous RAF ace lost his life because his Spitfire crashed into the channel after being hit over France.

The truth is—though this has never been published — that as Finucane was falling, he was strafed by German machine gunfire, and he was already dead when he hit the water.

Thus a new meaning comes to Finucane's famous phrase, "This is it, chaps."

Guarding FDR.

THE PRESIDENT'S trip to Mexico emphasized significant changes in the secret service detail which covers the White House.

It has been substantially enlarged since Pearl Harbor, and the age level has been lowered. The men who stand close to the president, both in the White House and on his travels, are husky and young.

These men are quick on the draw, and they are obliged to pass tests in pistol fire once a month. On the firing range in the treasury building, these secret service operatives are put through several types of pistol practice.

One is the slow fire, for accuracy rather than speed. Another is "time fire," in which all five shots must be discharged at the target within ten seconds. Timing includes a test of speed from the holster to the moment of striking the target; in other words, draw and fire.

Another test is to hit a moving target. The silhouette of a man is turned broadside for a moment, then turned away, and the shot must be fired in time to hit a vital part of the figure (head or abdomen) while it is still exposed.

The infusion of young blood has caused the replacement of old-sters, including the highly popular Col. E. W. Starling, for years efficient chief of the White House detail, and the man who has toured the country a score of times in advance of a presidential trip, to inspect the route for safety.

It was not Starling, however, but a broad-shouldered Irishman named Michael F. Reilly who preceded the president to North Africa and Mexico. Though Starling is less active now, he is still on regular duty and a beloved figure at the White House. But Reilly has supplanted him as White House chief.

Note: The actual number of men in the detail cannot be disclosed. It is a secret service secret.

French Join British.

THE NAZIS have threatened to stop French fishing boats from operating off the Atlantic coast near Gibralter, because of the large number of crew desertions to the British.

Whenever the French boats show up in this area, the British navy sends out small, fast ocean-going cutters with loud-speakers. The cutters pull up a short distance away and soon the fishermen hear a rumbling voice announce:

"If any of you men want to join up with the Allies to fight those Nazi so-and-so's, jump in the water and start swimming. We will pick you up."

Sometimes the French boats have been left without a single man on board, so great has been the response to the invitation. Several times the Vichy government sent a small warship along to protect the fishing boats, with instructions to fire on deserters.

However, this precaution did little good, because gunners on the escorting vessel deliberately shot over the heads of the swimming figures.

Point Value Experience.

Office of price administration, the department of agriculture, food processors and distributors and plain, ordinary consumers are learning by experience that adjustment of rationing point values is a delicate operation.

Previous revisions and those which have just gone into effect signify that OPA, however, is capable of making the necessary adjustments to give the trial-and-error plan leeway. It reflects no discredit on OPA that point values are subject to change; the agency had no previous experience to guide it.

As experience discloses more and more about the food-buying pattern of the United States public under scarcity, the lessons will be applied under the theory of rationing: That consumption can be regulated upward or downward, or maintained at the same level by imposing ration point values on the dollar-and-cents values that control distribution under ordinary circumstances. — Canton Repository.

Cemeteries Mark Path of Tunisian War; German Salvage Operations Thorough.

NORTHERN TUNISIA — (By Wireless) — Africa is a strange country, and this war is very little like the last was in France. Yet here too many an American sleeps beneath a field of poppies—poppies so red and vivid that their beauty is strangely saddening.

The desert battlefields and the northern battleground too are alive now with flowers. They grow wild, in patches as thick as grass blanketing solid acres. They grow together in vast stretches of red, yellow and orange, all of it framed by the lush green of new grass.

Even the dullest spirits among us can't help being touched by their ironical loveliness.

I have stopped now and then to see some of the battle graveyards. The Germans bury their dead in small cemeteries along the roadsides, but we concentrate in fewer and bigger graveyards, usually on the edge of some town. Arabs are hired to dig the graves.

* * *

AT GAFSA there is an American cemetery with more than 600 graves. It is in desertlike country, and the graves are aligned in precise rows in the naked gray earth. Each is marked with a waist-high wooden cross.

In a nearby tent is a great pile of ready-made crosses, and a stack of newly carpentered wooden markers in the form of the Star of David, for the Jewish dead.

As all the American dead in the Gafsa area have been located and reburied in the permanent graveyard, this cemetery section will move on to other fronts.

The little German cemeteries are always bordered with rows of white rocks, and in some there will be a phrase neatly spelled out in white rocks with a border around it. One that I remember said, in rough translation:

"These dead gave their spirits for the glory of Greater Germany."

In one German cemetery of about a hundred graves we found 11 Americans. They lay among the Germans, not segregated in any way. Their graves are identical with those of the Germans except that beneath the names on the wooden crosses is printed "Amerikaner," and below that the army serial number. We presume their "dog tags" were buried with them.

On one of the graves, beneath the soldier's series number, is also printed: "T-40." The Germans apparently thought that was part of his number. Actually it only showed that the man had had his first anti-tetanus shot in 1940.

My friend Serg. Pat Donado of Pittsburgh was with me when we looked at this graveyard, and as we left he said:

"They respect our dead the same as we do theirs. It's comforting to know that."

* * *

WE ALSO came upon a number of Italian graveyards set out in fields. These graves too were well marked, and each had a bouquet of wilted marigolds.

At the side of one little Italian cemetery, which was beautifully bordered and decorated, were half a dozen additional graves, apparently dug at the last minute before the retreat. They were just rough mounds, unmarked except for an empty quart bottle stuck upside down at the head of each grave.

Inside the bottles we could see scraps of paper, apparently with the dead Italians' names and numbers on them. Naturally we wouldn't violate these graves by pulling out the bottles, but even if our inclination had been rowdy we would have been afraid to. There are rumors, which I have not been able to verify, that such grave-marking bottles are sometimes booby traps.

THE GERMANS leave very clean country behind them. Their salvage organization must be one of the best in the world—probably because of desperate necessity. We've gone all over the Tunisian country from which they have fled, and evidences that they have been there are slight. You see burned-out tanks in the fields, and some wrecked scout cars and Italian trucks lying in roadside ditches, and that is about all. Nothing is left behind that is repairable. Wrecked cars are stripped of their tires, instruments and lights. They leave no tin cans, boxes are other junk as we do.

We've seen little evidence of German earth-scorching, probably because the retrat northward was too fast. Some bridges were blown up. Mountain passes and the paths around wrecked bridges were all heavily mined.

But the most noticeable thing is the destruction of all telephone lines. They cut down about every other pole along the highways, and snipped most of the wires. The poles weren't chopped down. They were sawed off about two feet above the ground and very neatly sawed off too, the fastidious marauders.

CHAPTER XXIV

When Rosemary saw Bill St. Clair leave Lightning after the couriers arrived, she knew intuitively that he had gone to find Harry Boyle. Here was the real showdown. Bill had no choice, now, save to find Harry Boyle and capitulate.

She had made no move to stop him then because she herself thought it the only thing to do. Bill had been holding off Boyle in order to shield her. Protect her from the indignity and shame that an attack on Boyle would bring. But with trainees actually arriving in Lightning, personal feelings could no longer be recognized.

Now in Option herself, however, Rosemary, suddenly felt a sense of alarm.

"If Bill did that much for me," she reasoned, "he would do more. He'll be so angry he might do anything!"

* * *

The thought was exciting. A man who would sacrifice himself for her! A man who—yes, would fight for her! Even though the man knew she could never be anything more to him than an employe. Did Bill St. Clair feel attracted to her, she wondered? Perhaps—even love her a tiny bit? It was a stimulating, thrilling thing, inside her own heart that loved him so ardently and yet had kept still.

"I won't have Bill endanger his life!" she almost whispered now "Maybe—maybe he hasn't found Harry yet. Maybe I can get to Harry first!"

That was something to tie to. She turned to Sergeant Wayne and his seven young Britishers, there at the warehouse in Option.

"Sergeant—oh, I—I must do another errand now. Alone Please see that all the brooms and mops and things go to Lightning with the Caravan. I'll follow you as quickly as I can."

"Right, Miss Lee. You'll want the motor cycle and driver, of course."

"Oh. Yet I—yes, please."

Her "orderly" sprang to his feet and she got in the side car. They started to the main business area and she directed him to the Option Athletic club where she knew Harry Boyle liked to stay. She didn't see Bill's car anywhere, but she knew Bill would be looking. Perhaps he had already found Harry. Perhaps they had met, and Bill had openly challenged him, and perhaps Harry had drawn a gun—she knew he carried one always—and shot Bill and killed him!

The mental image filled her with childlike alarm so that she actually glanced fearfully up and down the streets looking for any sign of crowd or commotion. But she came down to earth again when she saw Boyle himself casually sauntering down the street near the Athletic club.

* * *

"Harry!" she called, quickly Her driver stopped the motorcycle.

"Well, well, well-l-l-l!" Her husband came out, beaming in that too-wise manner of his. "If it's not the little lady herself! With a chauffeur from the R. A. F."

Rosemary asked her driver to wait, while she went in the club with Harry.

"Thought you were done with me forever, baby?" Boyle smirked broadly now "Told me you were long gone."

"Harry, have you seen—I mean—has Bill St. Clair been to see you?"

"No. But I imagine it's about time He and I prob'ly could make a little deal, baby. Say, is that your idea now? He send you here?"

"No! He did not. But Harry he—he's coming. And he'll be desperate!"

Boyle chuckled in satisfaction. "Harry, he'll attack you. I know he will!"

Boyle was abruptly serious. "What do you mean, attack?"

"I mean the first trainees for the air field have already come, and Bill isn't ready. He knows you are the one who blocked this building project. He'll punish you."

"Punish me, eh? Nobody ever punishes Harry Boyle." The man's black eyes were as ominous as his tone now. "Anyway, you didn't rush in here just to warn me! You're scared to death of what I might do to St. Clair!"

"What if I am?" she exclaimed, a bit desperately. "You hate him and you know it. You'd try anything to hurt him!"

"I hate him, and you love him."

"I haven't done a single thing to let Bill know I love him. He knows I'm married to you. And he hasn't—hasn't done a thing behind your back, either, Harry Boyle!"

Boyle chuckled in satisfaction. "He's soft on you. That fact's plain."

"Maybe he is! I wish I—Harry, if you and he fight it'll just wreck everybody! All our lives. Somebody might be killed. And sent to prison. And—and—"

He chuckled again. Obviously he derived a satisfaction out of seeing her plead.

Amazing results in building STURDY BODIES!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

YOUNG people, especially those of grammar and high school age, are prone to be deficient in stomach digestive juices and red-blood.

A growing-person who is operating on a 65 to 70% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

In such cases Nature needs extra help. Organic troubles or focal infection if they exist, must be corrected Tissue foods must be digested and rich red-blood must be present to build sturdy bodies

SSS Tonic is especially designed to build-up blood strength when deficient and to promote those stomach juices which digest the food so the body can make proper use of it in tissue building and repair.

These two important results enable the body to make use of the food as Nature intended. Thus you may gain a keen appetite . . . firm flesh . . . body energy . . . mental alertness!

Build Sturdy Health so that the Doctors may better serve our Fighting Forces

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 oz sizes. S.S.S Co.

Mary B. Mitchells Hear Report on War Bond Drive

Mary B. Mitchell Tent 40, D. of U. V. met in the Memorial building Tuesday night, with Mrs. Marie Bonham, president, in charge of the business session.

Mrs. Lottie Pittenger, chairman of the war bond drive, reported success on sales. Mrs. Cleo Bartley, patriotic instructor and chairman of the national defense, reported on the disaster unit which is being promoted by the national D. U. V., who is purchasing three disaster units, consisting of a combination ambulance and canteen equipped with loud speakers, four cots, first aid supplies and room for 13 people. These are being given to the Red Cross for the disaster areas. All daughters are asked to contribute when called upon.

The tent will have a rummage sale May 14 and 15.

Mrs. Lillian Robnolte gave a paper on Gen. Grant's birthday.

After the meeting, a social hour was held with the following committee in charge: Mrs. Pittinger, Miss Harriett Beck, Mrs. Ethel Purdy, and Mrs. Marjorie Kiser. The next meeting is scheduled for May 10.

Mrs. E. D. Gibson Guest Speaker at Child Study Club

Mrs. E. D. Gibson spoke on the Children's Theater last night at a meeting of the Child Study club at the home of Mrs. R. O. Richards, 560 Marion avenue, with Mrs Dale Balph as associate hostess.

Mrs. Gibson told about the early stages of the theater and the progress it has made She said that the purpose is not to produce actors, but to teach poise, diction, and self-expression.

Mrs. J. Brown conducted a brief business meeting. She introduced Mrs. G. Baird and Mrs. G. Lewis as new members of the club. Two guests, Mrs. Gordon Colby, a former member now living in Chicago, and Mrs. Drumm, were present.

Refreshments were served at a long table with Mrs. T S Banks presiding. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Balph, 89 Sherman avenue, assisted by Mrs. Emmett Casey, on May 25.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, April 29.

The lunar aspects bearing rule on this day's affairs must be read as complex and trying, although promising decided benefits if a well-stimulated mentality is allowed logical play and not permitted to be overbalanced by stress, strain and emotional factors The energies are likewise keyed up, but may be misdirected. While there may be obstacles and difficult spots, there is promise of support from influential sources.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves plunged into a year in which two opposed ways beckon and lure. There are important issues to the fore, with promise of cooperation and solid support from those whose aid is needed The judgment in money matters may not be trustworthy or sound because of expansive or gambling propensities

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

I repressed a sudden impish impulse to remind my brother-cousin that he had experienced no revulsion at my seeing him with his long, straggling, unkempt beard and hair badly in need of cutting. But he was not in love with me, and the time when he "carried a torch" for me was far in the past

"Yes, you do look pretty unsavory," I said, smiling, "but there are things you can do to improve your appearance. If that beard were trimmed into a Van Dyke and your hair cut modishly, you would look very handsome and distinguished, and need not fear inspection by the most critical eyes. And Katharine's are far from that; instead she will be wearing rose-tinted glasses."

Jack Sarcastic.

"And just how am I to achieve this transformation," he asked sarcastically, "provided it were wise to change my disguise even that little? I suppose the gifted Gus could put a bowl over my head and clip round the edges of my hair, and with shears I could trim my own beard, but I do not think the results would appeal to Katharine."

I laughed at the ridiculous picture, then spoke quickly.

"You do not know the resources of the hideaway," I said, "and you are doing a grave injustice to Gus. He happens to be a master barber, among other things, and could make a remarkable change in your appearance."

"But you do not understand, Margaret," he said earnestly. "If things should so shape themselves—and they may at any time—that I had to leave the hideaway suddenly, my disguise would then be useless."

Calls Him Idiotic.

"How perfectly idiotic!" I stormed "That argument won't hold water Your wearing of any beard changes your face unbelievably. What does it matter whether it is cut modishly or left to straggle?"

I saw my slip the instant I had made it Unfortunately Jack caught it also

"'Changes it unbelievably,'" he echoed "You see, Katharine will be looking at a stranger."

"For a man supposed to possess the average number of brain cells," I said, "you show the least sense of anyone I ever met. Of course it changes your appearance, but if properly cut it won't change you for the worse Indeed, I think Katharine will think her husband very distinguished looking. And do you think, you abysmal idiot, that she cares what you look like, if your soul hasn't changed?

But, to go back to the question of an effective disguise, you know very well that Father does not wish you to leave the hideaway until you are out of danger and no longer need any disguise The work you are doing is too important for you to risk going outside."

Praises Katharine.

"And then Katharine—" he began obstinately

"Katharine is the best sport going, and you know it," I said. "Do you think she would balk at your letting your hair and beard grow unkempt again, if need be, when she already has met, with clear and loving comprehension, something so much more poisonous that lying letter Ruth Hayes sent her and the things Ruth is trying to make her believe now?"

There was sudden horror in his face.

"Do you mean" he said hoarsely, "that that she devil has talked to Katharine? How could you let her breathe the same air? I never dreamed of that possibility or I would have hunted her out and throttled her before I attended to anything else"

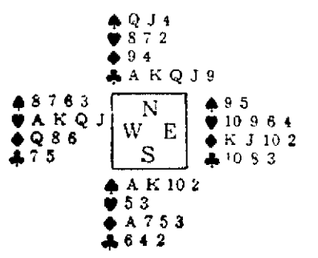
"The Authority on Authorities"

SAVE THE LONG TRUMPS

It is highly dangerous to ruff with a four-trump holding unless you also have four trumps opposite them. When there are only three in the dummy, it will often pay you to conserve yours and let the opponents take an additional early trick, so you can ruff with the shorter holding The reason is that you wish to have enough trumps in one hand to care for four rounds of the suit as a protection against a possible yes probable - suit length of that size in the hand of one defender



(Dealer South East-West vulnerable)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	4 ♠

North was not to blame for South reaching a spade game, as the latter's bid of diamonds certainly made it sound as if he had two five-card suits. As it develops, South could have made his precarious contract, but fumbled one vital principle of play.

West took in the heart K and J and then led the Q, which South ruffed with the spade2 That beat him He thus staked all on an even division of trumps and scored the G K and A, learning the sad news that West had the 8 left while he himself had no more of the suit. Now hopelessly he played clubs, but West ruffed the third one and scored the setting trick with the heart A, then led a diamond South got that with the A, but then had to lose two more diamonds and was down three.

If South had let West hold the third heart discarding a diamond, his contract would have been safe, no matter what West led then to him If it was a heart the dummy could have ruffed, four trumps could have been taken, plus five clubs, and the diamond A could even have been discarded on a club if South wanted to seem fancy.

GALION P. T. A. PLANS TO NAME NEW OFFICERS

Election Scheduled To Be Held at Next Meeting on May 25.

GALION—War work, school financing legislature, tuberculosis education program, and examination of pre-school children, were considered at a meeting of the Galion City Council of Parent-Teachers associations.

The meeting was held in the office of Supt. M. A. Povenmire at Senior high school Tuesday night, Mrs. Ralph Spaid presiding. She named a nominating committee comprised of Mrs. Kay Powers, Mrs. Russell Smith and Mrs. Herbert Edwards. Election of officers and a potluck supper are slated for the next meeting on May 25.

Tuberculin tests in the schools, and tentative plans for an educational program regarding tuberculosis were discussed at the suggestion of Miss Lucy Ailer, school health nurse. To carry out this program next year, Mrs. Spaid named the following committee: Miss Ailer, Mrs. M. D. Bonsteel, Mrs. Richard Ganshorn, Mrs. Chester Beach, Mrs. S. O. Younce and Mrs. Joseph Korb.

Announcement was made that the P. T. A. Council has been asked to cooperate with the general salvage branch of the war production board. Material was distributed giving information about the "block" plan in which mothers in a block are organized to carry on the various projects of war salvage work, and to provide protection for children in case of air raid.

Mrs. W. R. Eckstein also announced results of her investigation of school legislation with Rep. Robert L. Moulton who reported favorable progress, and that the school finance bill is now pending in the rules committee of the state legislature.

That the summer health roundup for pre-school children will get underway within the next month was announced by Miss Ailer.

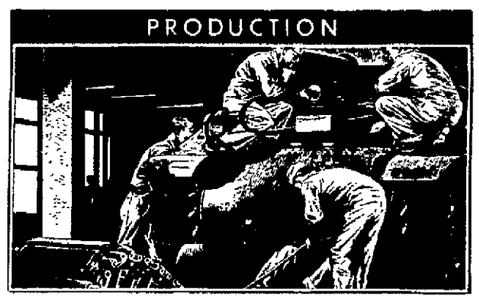
A REPORT TO THE NATION

on General Motors' Production, Employment, Economies and Profits

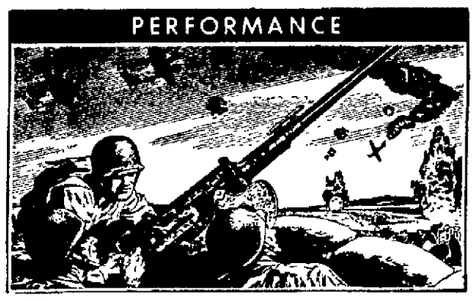
PRODUCTION



TODAY THE COUNTRY'S LARGEST PRODUCER OF WAR MATERIALS

During 1942 war production in General Motors increased rapidly. Deliveries in the fourth quarter were more than four times those in the fourth quarter of 1941 and were at an annual rate of more than three billion dollars. In reality, war production increased far more rapidly than dollar value indicates—thanks to decreases in cost of manufacture. General Motors' interests and energies are concentrated on speeding war production.

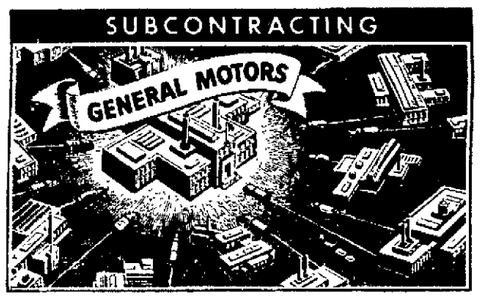
PERFORMANCE



THROUGH BATTLE TESTS WITH FLYING COLORS—THE WORLD AROUND

General Motors' war products are now being used by both the Army and Navy on battlefronts all over the globe. Reports of their effectiveness—and, in many cases, of decided superiority over enemy equipment—are evidence of the quality materials and precision workmanship going into their manufacture. The great variety of equipment furnished is indicated below—and there are additional secret weapons which cannot be listed.

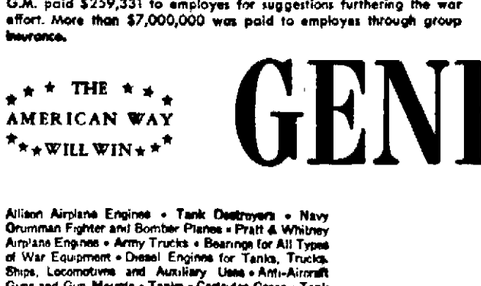
SUBCONTRACTING



THOUSANDS OF SUBCONTRACTORS AND SUPPLIERS ASSIST GENERAL MOTORS

Continuing peacetime practices, thousands of subcontractors and suppliers—companies which have demonstrated production efficiency and ability to maintain quality—have been utilized by General Motors. This practice has resulted in the spread of approximately one-half of General Motors' war work to outside firms. Thousands of these subcontractors and suppliers are firms employing 100 people or less.

"KNOW-HOW"



ENGINEERING AND PRODUCTION KNOWLEDGE PRODUCES RESULTS

The experience gained by General Motors over the years has proved of immense value in war work. This "Know-How" in the fields of engineering and manufacture has made possible quick conversion to war production, and resulted in simplification of design, improvement of quality and reduction in cost. This not only speeded up the work and got the job done, but saved manpower and millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money.

EMPLOYMENT

EMPLOYMENT FIGURES HAVE MOUNTED TO AN ALL-TIME HIGH

Although more than 50,000 G.M. people have joined the armed forces, employment in the U.S. and Canada rose to 370,000 in 1942—an all-time high. This increase involved great problems in training personnel. Hours worked increased to an average of 45.5 hours per week, compared to 40.7 hours in 1941. General Motors' employment is spread through 107 plants in the U. S. in 46 communities in 13 states—and five plants in Canada.

SERVICE COOPERATION

TECHNICAL TRAINING AND FIELD SERVICE TO ASSIST THE ARMED FORCES

General Motors' training schools for technicians of the armed services have graduated more than 11,000 men—will train approximately 40,000 in 1943. Parts schedules have also been established, and maintenance units set up in combat areas. Technical observers are stationed at battlefronts, so that our engineers and mechanics, cooperating with the armed forces, can more rapidly improve the military effectiveness of weapons.

WAGES

WAGES REACH A NEW PEAK AS RATES AND HOURS INCREASE

Along with increased employment and working hours, wages have risen substantially. Hourly workers, who averaged $43.41 weekly in 1941, averaged $54.91 in 1942—an increase of 26%. The payroll for both salaried and hourly rate employes in 1942 was $859,314,062. G.M. paid $259,331 to employes for suggestions furthering the war effort. More than $7,000,000 was paid to employes through group insurance.

REDUCED COSTS

SAVING MILLIONS OF DOLLARS FOR UNCLE SAM—AND YOU

As a result of the industrial "Know-How" reviewed above, manufacturing costs were so reduced that, by the end of 1942, more than $177,000,000 had been voluntarily returned to the government in price reductions, and there will be an additional $183,000,000 in price reductions which will apply to subsequent deliveries under existing contracts.

PROFITS

GENERAL MOTORS' PROFITS WERE LOWER IN 1942

The General Motors policy of limiting its rate of profits, before taxes, on its manufacturing business to about half of 1941 resulted in a net income from manufacturing of 4½% of total sales. Common stock dividends were $2 per share in 1942, as compared with $3.75 per share in 1941.

King Corn In the Victory Garden.

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Ass'n.

UNLESS THE Victory garden is very small King Corn will demand a place in it and every home gardener is ready to be its willing subject for the sake of the sweet lent kernels at "sweet corn time."

Corn, no matter how great your enthusiasm for it, should not be planted until all danger of frost is past. Corn is a warm weather vegetable and cannot tolerate even mild freezing weather.

Sweet corn, because of the room it takes, is hardly appropriate or practical in the very small Victory vegetable garden but when space permits it should be included in the planting list, for there is no more appetizing and satisfying vegetable than corn plunged fresh from the garden into the boiling pot. Both the quality and flavor deteriorate quickly after the ears are pulled from the plant.

Even in the small Victory garden one can have corn nearly all summer if small, successive plantings of it are made at 10 day intervals, as shown in the accompanying Garden Graph.

Where sweet corn is concerned, it will pay to buy the very best of seed. Only a comparatively small quantity of seed is required for the average Victory garden and poor quality seeds will yield only disappointment in the plants, as illustrated. The best seed is actually the cheapest in the end because of the increased yields plus improved quality of the corn itself. Only the hybrid varieties of corn should be grown in the small garden because of the high yield from each plant.

JURY TROUBLE

BUCYRUS - Combined wartime employment and illness is causing difficulty in setting up a jury panel in common pleas court, Judge C. C. Ahl indicated today. Of the first panel of 30 drawn from the jury wheel, challenges in a jury case last week left an insufficient number to continue with the hearing and 30 additional names were added. Of the last 30 more than half have been given excuses because of war plant employment or illness, Judge Ahl said.

Asks Return of Original Wright Flying Machine

WILMINGTON, N. C. (INS) - Governor J. Melville Broughton, of North Carolina, has launched a campaign to have the original flying machine used by Orville Wright and his brother, the late Wilbur Wright, returned to the scene of their first flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C.

The plane is now on display in the Royal Museum in London, England, where it has been since a private feud developed between persons interested in the Wright brothers and the Smithsonian Institution. The Smithsonian for years had claimed an early airplane built by Professor Samuel Langley was capable of flight.

However, the Smithsonian finally recognized the Wright Brothers as the makers of the first successful airplane.

Now, North Carolina wants its native sons properly honored and acclaimed. Gov. Broughton, in cooperation with influential publishers and civic organizations, has launched the movement to have the original Wright Brothers' plane returned to Kitty Hawk, and suggested that the government erect a suitable building to house the historic invention.
